MOSCOW CROWD BOOS BRITONS

MOSCOW (Reuters)—A strong-running, tricky Moscow Dynamo team used the first half to feel out Britain and handed the British squad a 5-0 defeat tonight in the first Anglo-Russian soccer match since 1945.

Eighty thousand Russians sent thundering cheers echoing through chilly, floodlit Dynamo Stadium here as the smooth-playing Russian League leaders repeated their victory of nine years ago over Arsenal. Dynamo edged Arsenal 4-3 in a thick London fog then.

Dynamo's Ilyin scored the first goal in the last minute of the first half. He repeated with his second goal in the first few minutes of the second half.

The Dynamo attack grew stronger as the game progressed.

The Russian players moved quickly, they attacked strongly, and their shooting was more accurate and powerful.

Arsenal's bustling tactics, particularly when the British charged the goalkeeper, were greeted with outbursts of mild booing and whistling by the rabid Russian fans.

As the Arsenal players left the field, the fans whistled their disappointment of a poor performance.

The British team, which in the past was one of the English League's greatest soccer powers but in recent years has slipped, was an underdog in the match with the youthful Red opponents.

Sixteen British members of Parliament, now on a month's tour, saw the game.

Japan Now Colombo Member

OTTAWA (CP)—The 14 Asian and Western powers of the Colombo plan today granted full membership to Japan.

Agreement on the Japanese admission was reached at the morning session of the ministerial meeting.

Japan thus becomes a donor country, providing aid for the South and Southeast Asia area. Since she is short of funds, it appears likely the only aid she might grant at the outset would be technical training in fishing and rice growing methods.

Earlier today, Indonesia withdrew opposition to Japan's entry. Thailand was also admitted.

Winnie Roach Would Try $50,000 Swim

CALGARY (CP)—Long distance swimmer Winnie Roach Leuzler says she will "definitely be in" a proposed race across Lake Ontario next summer "if it comes off."

The race was suggested Monday to George Duthie, sports director of the Canadian National Exhibition, by an industrial firm. The firm, which declined to be named, offered to put up a prize of $50,000 to the winner.

Involved in the race with Mrs. Leuzler would be Florence Chadwick of San Diego, Calif., and Marilyn Bell of Toronto, Miss Bell's coach, Gus Ryder, has been quoted as saying the race was out of the question.

Mr. Leuzler's husband, a member of the RCAF, was transferred here from St. Thomas, Ont., a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Leuzler said she would begin preliminary training almost at once.

When she tackled Lake Ontario this summer with Marilyn Bell and Miss Chadwick she ran into difficulty when her pilot boat lost her in the darkness. This time Mrs. Leuzler hopes to have better fortune riding with her. "I intend to try this swim. And I'm going to be ready for it."

New Tax Rental Talks Hinted by St. Laurent

SON TESTIFIES

Slain Mother Stayed Away Week-Ends

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nineteen-year-old Ronald Terry told an Assize Court jury today how his father and mother quarreled frequently over her friendship with another man and because she stayed away from home on week-ends.

Ronald testified at the trial of his father, Cecil Terry, 44, charged with the June 21 hammer slaying of his wife, Kathleen.

Ronald, who admitted that he and his father didn't get along, frequently said "I won't answer" to questions by Defense Counsel Derek LePage and once demanded "what's that got to do with this case?"

The boy testified that his mother and father quarreled and that she suffered black eyes. "How often did that happen?" Mr. LePage asked.

"Quite a bit. Almost every Saturday and Sunday."

The boy testified that when he was small he had seen some of the fights. "But I was too small to do anything about it."

Ronald testified that a man named Martin frequently visited his mother when she was living apart from his father.

"Did you have any objection to your mother seeing Martin?" asked Mr. LePage.

Ronald said he refused to answer but then added it "was none of my business what Mom did."

The youth described a quarrel he had with his father.

"I understand you gave your father two black eyes?" asked Mr. LePage.

"No, I didn't. I gave him one."

The trial will probably end about Thursday. (See earlier story, Page 7.)

UN to Settle Ownership Of Kashmir

KARACHI, Pakistan (CP)—Pakistan and India have failed to settle the Kashmir dispute by direct negotiation and Pakistan says the question now must revert to the United Nations.

The failure was disclosed in white papers issued simultaneously here and in New Delhi Monday which covered an exchange of views between prime ministers Mohammed Ali of Pakistan and Pandit Nehru of India.

Kashmir is an 82,000-square mile area in the northwestern part of the Indian sub-continent. It has been in dispute between Pakistan and India since the sub-continent was divided in 1947.

The population of Kashmir is predominantly Moslem, giving Moslem Pakistan its basic claim to the territory, but a Hindu maharajah some years ago ceded the land to Hindu India.

"Gold-making machines" and another device that the owner claimed could separate gold from ordinary sand were involved in the "fantastic hoax," an official said. The scheme

Dien Bien Phu Linked With French 'Leak'

Secrets Reached Indo-China Front

PARIS (UP)—The French military tribunal investigating the nation's spy scandal sought today to learn whether leaks of defense secrets to Communists contributed to the fall of the Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

The tribunal secretly questioned Rene Plevin, who was defense minister at the time the French suffered a crippling defeat at Dien Bien Phu which unhinged their defenses of northern Indo-China.

The inquiry has established that at least some top secret decisions of the national defense council were leaked to the Communist Viet Minh in Indo-China.

A number of other top French officials who served in the government at that time also were called in for questioning today.

Plevin was questioned at his home by Maj. Pierre De Ressegui, military magistrate.

Louis Jacquinot, another former minister, and Gen. Edouard Corniglion-Molinier, a deputy minister, also were questioned.

The tribunal scheduled for later a confrontation of Andre Baranes and Roger Labrusse, two of the top figures in the stolen secrets case.

Baranes is a Communist card-carrying French newspaperman. Labrusse is the man who, it is claimed, gave Baranes detailed notes on the meetings of the national defense council.

Actual returns to the province, he said, were in the neighborhood of $45,000,000.

SASKATCHEWAN CROP 'MOST DISAPPOINTING'

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool in a special crop report issued today says 1954 will be long remembered in the province as one of the most disappointing in history.

The pool said rust, sawflies, driving wind and rain have been responsible for a wheat crop which appears to be 36.5 per cent less than the 1953 yield.

According to police, the gold plot swindler sold his useless machines for sums ranging up to $2,500, and "borrowed" money from his victims to further his "gold-making" studies.

The swindler gave his victims small plaster-of-paris moulds allegedly filled with a "secret compound" which would turn into gold under the radio-active rays in the machines, police said.

He would soon give some excuse for not being able to sell the gold immediately, and give them receipts instead of cash for the pellets.

Actually, police say, the nuggets were in the sealed moulds to begin with, and the swindler would use the same collection of nuggets day after day. He would warn his victims not to break the moulds before they were baked or investigate the machine too closely because of danger from "radio-active" rays.

Province Would Welcome Tax Parley

MIGHT ELIMINATE 5% SALES TAX

By TOM GOULD
Times Legislative Reporter

B.C.'s Social Credit government would welcome an early reopening of the existing federal-provincial taxation agreement.

Although the full implication of Prime Minister St. Laurent's statements today concerning the possibility of reopening the tax agreement is not clear to B.C. officials, this much is known:

1. That when such a conference is called, Premier Bennett will take every possible opportunity to demand higher personal and corporate income tax returns to the province.

2. B.C. would frown on province-level income tax measures, but might agree to federal-collected income tax as a replacement for its present sales tax.

PREMIER INTERESTED

Last December, Premier Bennett went to Ottawa armed with a brief demanding federal "co-operation" in the economic development of B.C.

At the time the brief was read, B.C. acted on the assumption that the present agreement was in force until its normal reopening date, in 1957, and that little would be gained by asking merely for amendments.

So, instead, Premier Bennett asked for federal participation in opening up the province's industrial backyard; financial aid in building trunk highways and bridges; participation in extension of the PGE, and money to help in conservation of B.C.'s forest wealth.

FULL CONTROL

If the agreement is reopened, and there are strong indications a conference will be called in three months, Mr. Bennett is certain to request a larger percentage of money collected in B.C., with the province having full control of the spending.

Premier Bennett is explicit on one point, clearly stated in his budget speech this spring: "This government is satisfied that British Columbia is not getting an equitable return from the incidence of federal income taxation within the province."

At that time, he produced figures showing the federal government collected, through all forms of taxation, $474,700,000 in B.C. during the 1952-53 fiscal year.

Actual returns to the province, he said, were in the neighborhood of $45,000,000.

Duplessis Agrees To Modification Of Tax Demands

MONTREAL (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today Premier Duplessis of Quebec has submitted proposals for a change in Quebec's controversial income tax statute which could lead the federal government to suggest modifications in its tax-rental agreements with the other provinces.

After a conference with the Quebec premier, Mr. St. Laurent told reporters it is likely the Duplessis proposals—to be received in Ottawa in detail later—will lead to early convening of a federal provincial conference on tax matters. The prime minister emphasized that both he and Mr. Duplessis have agreed there is to be no "special deal" for Quebec which earlier this year imposed a personal income tax equivalent to 15 per cent of the federal income tax rate. Quebec has sought unsuccessfully to have the provincial tax made fully deductible from federal income tax.

One line of modification of the existing federal-provincial tax agreements, Mr. St. Laurent said, might be that the federal government would collect income taxes imposed by the provinces.

'CORDIAL AND VERY SATISFYING'

However, he said, nothing definite has been determined in that respect.

"We just established something of a general nature," he said.

Mr. St. Laurent said this would not mean double taxation. It would be done to avoid, to the extent that it can be avoided, the inconvenience of double taxation.

"It would not necessarily mean higher rates," he said.

A few moments earlier, Premier Duplessis, leaving Montreal's Windsor Hotel after the 2 1/2-hour talk with Mr. St. Laurent, said he thought the meeting could lead to a federal-provincial conference on taxation.

Mr. Duplessis described the meeting as "cordial and very satisfying."

Mr. St. Laurent said that, go to Ottawa to discuss Quebec's taxation dispute with the federal government, but would consent to meet Mr. St. Laurent in a neutral city.

When pressed for details on what occurred at the meeting, the premier said it is only fair that he report to his cabinet first.

Mr. Duplessis did not say when he will report on the meeting to his cabinet, but cabinet meetings usually are held every Wednesday.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, talking to reporters before the meeting with Premier Duplessis, also expressed the opinion a general federal-provincial conference might follow.

SNAKE PIT—In Spartanburg, S.C., the W. D. McCarter family is planning to move out and leave their house to an unwelcome guest—a five-foot black snake that has been in the house for a month.

About four weeks ago Mrs. McCarter discovered the reptile's presence when she reached up into a cupboard for dishes and pulled down a snake skin. A few days later a daughter saw the snake coiled on the sink. She screamed, and the reptile scurried into a hole in the wall.

When next spotted a neighbor ran in and took a shot at it with a rifle, but he missed. The snake escaped.

The family still hears the snake in the walls. They are building a new house and construction has been stepped up to its maximum speed. They're going to leave the old place to the snake.

TEMPUS FUGIT: In Enna, Sicily, a notice tacked up at city hall announced today that payment is finally ready on claims for citizens for damages suffered under the Bourbon occupation—in 1860. Only six such claims are on file, after all these years. The largest is for damages of 70 centimes. That was a lot of money back in 1860. Today its value is a bit less than a sixth of a cent.

REVENGE: In Thuillies, Belgium, a farmer here tried to set the local tax office on fire because "taxes were too high." Police said Joseph de Meulemeester broke into the tax collector's office Monday, emptied a bottle of gasoline in the room and fled after setting desks and records afire. The fire was put out quickly. When he was arrested and charged with arson, de Meulemeester snapped, "taxes are too high."

Vancouver May Post Reward of $2,000 For Brent Killer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Offer of a $2,000 reward for information leading to solution of the recent gangland-style slaying of club waiter Danny Brent will be suggested to city council here by the police commission. Brent was found Sept. 14 near the 10th hole of the University Golf Course. He was shot once through the back and twice through the head. Police are still trying to determine whether he was the victim of a battle between rival drug-peddling syndicates.

Vancouver Reporter Scheduled To Meet With Police Commission

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—A newspaper reporter who discovered a lottery racket was expected to tell the Vancouver Police Commission today how thousands of Canadians are being bilked yearly by counterfeit sweepstake tickets.

Reporter Ray Munro of the Vancouver Province was scheduled to appear before the commission late today to turn over what he called "vital information" about the counterfeit tickets.

The commission Monday night heard Police Chief Walter Mulligan deny accusations that his police force side-stepped investigating the reported multi-million-dollar fake lottery scheme.

Mulligan said his department knew about lotteries being operated on the lower British Columbia mainland, but denied knowledge of any alleged counterfeiting sweepstake ticket syndicate operating in the nation's third largest city.

Police late Monday night arrested Arthur Smith and charged him with distribution of lottery tickets. He was the second man within a week to be arrested on the charge. Police said Smith was released on bail.

Munro said he stumbled across the racket when a waiter in a tavern asked him to buy a ticket which, Munro said, later proved to be false. He claimed he knew of several people producing the clever imitations.

The newspaper man asked police protection Monday night because he and his family "had been threatened."

Alderman Bill Orr charged yesterday at a city council meeting that no action was taken one year ago when senior police officers learned of the lotteries. Orr said newspaper reports, in the Sun and Province, had forced the police to take up an investigation.

The city fathers demanded "necessary action" be taken against members of the police department who "suppressed the information," Orr said.

Expert imitations of the popular Irish sweepstake tickets continued to turn up throughout the lower British Columbia mainland, meanwhile. Newspapers here printed pictures of the fake ducaats and citizens discovered they had paid as much as $2 for a worthless piece of paper.

Donations Needed For Food Stall

Victoria's free food stall at the Public Market will be open for business this Saturday.

Vegetables, fruits, canned goods and "anything we can get" are needed badly, according to a spokesman for the group running the centre.

Persons wishing to make donations have been asked to contact Mrs. E. E. Harper at 9-4256. Pick-up points for out-of-town donations will be at the Black Swan Coffee Shop at Elk Lake, at the Prospect Lake Store, and at McMorris at Cordova Bay.

The stall will be open for donations at 9:30 a.m. Saturday and distribution of goods to welfare families will begin at 2 p.m.

New Copper Mine Boasts Rich Ore

CAMPBELL RIVER—Argus Consolidated Mining Company of Vancouver has opened a copper mine in the Menzies Bay area north of here, it was learned today.

Robert C. Fairall of the provincial assay office has reported ores range from 34 to 67 per cent copper.

Roads have been made to the mine, and cheap water transport is assured.

Diamond drilling started March 2, and deposits have been found from the surface to considerable depths. The company plans to use local men on the job.

Red Radio Attacks London Act; Calls Signers Enemies of Peace

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio, in the first Soviet reaction to the nine-power London conference, Monday night called on Reds the world over to launch an all-out campaign against the decisions reached here to bring a free and re-armed West Germany into NATO.

"The nine-power conference," said the broadcast, "shows that the social forces standing for peace must heighten their efforts, must heighten their vigilance still further, for the enemies of peace are not sitting idle."

In the Soviet lexicon, "social forces standing for peace" means Communists and the broadcast—heard in London—can be considered the first order from the Kremlin for Red parties throughout the world to start fighting the London decisions.

CHICAGO (AP)—The $12,000,000 anti-trust suit against 13 major league baseball clubs will not be tried until Jan. 3, and probably later, attorneys have disclosed.

Trial of the case, filed Feb. 21, 1952, by the now bankrupt Liberty Broadcasting System of Dallas, had been set, after a series of continuances, for Oct. 13. However, attorneys said Monday, although the new trial date of Jan. 3 was set Monday, they believe it will be April at the earliest before the suit will be heard.

Forest Industry Asks For Royal Commission

B.C. GETS BIG SHARE OF U.K. APPLE ORDER

B.C.'s special trade representative today confirmed earlier reports the British Board of Trade will purchase $2,430,000 worth of Canadian apples.

Einar Gunderson, now in England, said he has been informed by Board of Trade officials, orders will be placed for $900,000 in apples.

The majority of the shipments are expected to be purchased in B.C., especially in view of the havoc created in Maritime orchards by the recent hurricane Edna.

Oak Bay Calls Bids On Big Bond Issue

Oak Bay municipality has called for tenders for $196,500 worth of debenture bonds covering local improvement paving work carried out since last year.

Work on roads and sidewalks to be paid for from this bond issue was completed last spring.

The bonds, a 15-year serial issue, will bear interest at 4 per cent, payable March 15 and September 15, and are dated from September 15, 1954.

When approved the issue will bring to almost $300,000 the amount of local improvement bonds issued this year. Given approval in May was a $102,000 water and sewage extension program, financed by a similar debenture issue.

Council will be asked Wednesday night to act on advertising for tenders for a municipal insurance broker to handle insurance accounts with various underwriters.

A single broker to consolidate the municipality's insurance administration would relieve difficulties encountered with the municipality handling its own buying and selling, said an official.

The job has become too vast for a body such as council, inexperienced in insurance matters, said the spokesman.

On the municipal building alone there may be "a half dozen different insurance policies, each covering a different portion and each falling due at a different time," he went on.

At present only the municipality's automobile insurance comes due at one specific date.

Way Cleared for Early Start On Esquimalt Sidewalk Project

More than 90 residents in the Colville-Lockley Road area filed nine petitions for construction of cement sidewalks with Esquimalt council Monday night.

The work, for which a by-law will be prepared, involves an expenditure of about $16,600 under a local improvement plan which will be paid for entirely by the residents.

Each of the petitions was signed by at least two-thirds of the residents on each block concerned. The petitions followed a public meeting with council at the Colville Road Scout Hall recently.

The sidewalks will be built on Colville, Lockley, Intervale and Condon Avenue. One block of Lockley, from Intervale to Admirals, and the whole of McLeod Street, are the only sections in that area which did not petition for sidewalks.

Work will go ahead on the project as soon after passing of the by-law as weather conditions permit.

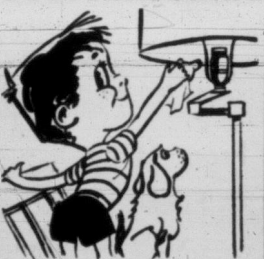

Clr. G. K. Sammon told council that a recent meeting with Junior Chamber of Commerce officials indicated Little League baseball may soon be introduced in Esquimalt. He said the officials felt that Bullen Park was the only suitable site and that even that park would have to be enlarged by appropriation of neighboring land. Some re-turfing would also be required.

Council will invite Jaycee committeemen to attend the next regular council meeting to discuss the proposal further.

John Halstead, who for ten years gave voluntary care and supervision to the Lyall Street playground, has moved from the district, council was told. Clr. Sammon asked that police supervision be given to the park to guard against vandalism. He moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Halstead for his help in the past.

3 Associations For an Inquiry

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Three forest industrial associations urged today that the provincial government appoint a Royal Commission to inquire into the B.C. forest industry.

The recommendation came out of a joint meeting of the Truck Loggers' Association, the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association and the Northern Interior Lumbermen's Association.

The groups approved a resolution urging that "a Royal Commission be immediately implemented to inquire into all phases of the forest economy of the province."

While being in "complete agreement" with the government on the need for a sustained forest yield, the groups said, they "are disturbed by the government's over-confidence in an unrealistic theoretical plan for sustained yield of the public's forests."

Track Suspension

TORONTO (CP) — Indefinite suspension, effective today, for owner-trainer George Kilgore was announced Monday by Long Branch race track stewards.

Kilgore is charged with having an "electrical device in his possession." His case will be referred to the Ontario Racing Commission.

DEAN OF THE FACULTY OF FORESTRY, J.B.C. G. S. Allen will be one of the principal speakers at the 46th annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Forestry, at the Empress Hotel October 33, 14 and 15.

Over three hundred leading foresters from all parts of Canada will be attending the convention. They will discuss all aspects of the forest industry, including the marketing of timber abroad.

Longshoremen Strike Ties Up N.Y. Port

NEW YORK (AP) — A strike by longshoremen in a wage dispute today tied up the world's largest and busiest port for the second time in six months.

Tugboats still were operating and big liners were able to dock, but there was nobody to unload the cargoes.

There was no immediate prospect of a settlement between the International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.), and the New York Shipping Association, representing steamship lines and stevedoring firms.

Baltimore and other east coast ports laid plans to handle cargoes expected to be diverted from New York as they were during a 29-day walkout last March and April.

Police, mounted and on foot, patrolled the waterfront.

GIANT OCTOPUS

TRONDHEIM, Norway (AP) — A giant octopus measuring more than seven feet across the body and having tentacles over 23 feet long was found floating dead in the Trondheim fjord Monday.

Marilyn Determined On Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Marilyn Monroe, red-eyed from weeping, said through her attorney today "there is no chance of reconciliation" with baseball great Joe DiMaggio. She ordered her divorce suit filed today or Wednesday.

Friends of the couple tried to get the nine-month-old marriage back on its feet by urging them to reconcile. But the crying actress, near hysteria, told Jerry Giesler that any patch-up "is out of the question."

"We may file today or tomorrow, depending upon Marilyn's health," Giesler said early today.

"STRUCK OUT"

"I discussed the possibility of a reconciliation with her, but she said no. There is a conflict of careers and a general incompatibility. Yes, Joe has 'struck out'."

Joe remained inside the couple's rented Beverly Hills home, but Giesler said he assumed the ex-ball player planned to move to an apartment soon.

The blonde refused to talk to reporters today but agreed to appear at a press conference Wednesday at Giesler's office at least to pose for photographers.

The actress was in bed Monday with what her doctor, Leon Krohn, called a case of nerves. Krohn is an obstetrician, but he insisted she was not pregnant.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND FLOATING IN GORGE

Esquimalt police recovered the body of 60-year-old Mrs. Alice Hampton, 928 Arm, from the Gorge waters at about 6 p.m. Monday night.

The woman had been missing from her home since early Sunday.

Following a report that clothing had been found on the Gorge beach, police called in navy underwater experts. But the water was too murky for the frogmen.

The body was floating near the foot of Uganda Avenue.

A New Page in History

THE HISTORIC LONDON CONFERENCE has achieved a substitute for the European Defense Community which is described by U.S. State Secretary Dulles as stronger than the original plan. Under the new arrangement, the old Brussels Treaty has been rewritten to include West Germany and Italy and serve as a focus of joint defense measures.

Ironically enough, the original Brussels agreement was designed to preserve its member nations against German aggression, and expressly named that country in its provisions. Now the defensive attitude is directed eastward against possible Soviet invasion, and a contribution of 500,000 West German troops will be added to the existing western European forces. West Germany in addition will furnish medium bombers and a small coastal patrol navy.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization was the operative arm of the Brussels Treaty. The defense forces called to war through the provisions of the mutual defense agreement would be those operating under NATO. Hence West Germany will become a member of NATO under the new arrangement.

The resulting program is thus a much broader one than EDC would have provided. EDC would have comprised only France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Organization under the Brussels Treaty brings Britain into the community—a direct integration which the United Kingdom previously sought to avoid. And, of course, membership of NATO will ally West Germany with fourteen other countries, including the Brussels nations, the United States, Canada, Norway, Denmark, Iceland, Turkey, Spain and Portugal.

The western defense line now extends from the Baltic to the Aegean, and, through understandings with Pakistan, well into southern Asia. The West German contribution is valuable. It was, indeed, seen as a necessity if the western European fortress was to be made strong enough to put up a resistance to attack from the east. In return West Germany wins full sovereignty and relief from occupation forces, only nine years after total defeat of the Reich in the Second World War.

Order on Assessments

UNTIL THOSE PEOPLE MOST directly concerned have had an opportunity to study the question, the effect of the Provincial Government order to Greater Victoria municipalities—and others in the province—to amend their assessments can merely be guessed.

Obviously a scheme aimed at equalization has apparent benefits, particularly for school purposes. And just as obviously a blanket increase in assessments in this community should lower mill rates though not necessarily reduce taxes.

If assessments are equalized—if such a process is possible where property values owe something at least to the varying services provided for them—the value for taxation purposes of a house and lot worth a certain sum in one part of British Columbia would be the same as in another. Equivalent taxes would be paid for a minimum standard of education. But even if the individual home owner paid on a single tax scale throughout the province, inequalities would not be eliminated.

This is so since some municipalities have more better class homes than others and the tax proceeds from them would be greater than from municipalities not so fortunately situated. The wealthier districts, on that basis, would have more to spend on schools than the poorer sections. To establish a balance, provincial aid would have to flow in an unequal stream to each type—the needier receiving more, the prosperous receiving less.

This is one element which may be expected to promote controversy among taxpayers at the provincial level because they are also municipal taxpayers.

Such questions are issues for debate in the near future—and they will undoubtedly be widely debated.

Writers Need Readers, and Vice Versa

IT IS A TYPICAL, ALTHOUGH unfortunate, development that the University of Toronto is preparing to discontinue its adult education course in Canadian literature for lack of public interest. With a minimum class of 30 needed to make the course possible, only six have registered. While the study of Canadian writing is thus languishing, however, a similar course in United States literature has proved popular for many years.

The same relative interest is obvious on the magazine racks and book shelves, where a hundred American publications are offered for sale for each Canadian periodical or book.

What is the reason for this national modesty? Why has the home product, whatever its merits, to overcome an inborn reluctance among Canadian readers?

The answer may lie in the greater advertisement which American publications enjoy, the larger sums spent on illustration and format, the larger returns offered the writers. But this cannot account for Canadians' reluctance to read Canadians' literary output where the latter through excellence has become part of our national cultural assets.

We are, of course, still young in this field by most national standards. But even though the United States is not much our senior in years, we cannot boast of Whitman, Hawthorne or Mark Twains. We are on the right path, beyond doubt. But we still have a long way to go.

The Kremlin's Dale Carnegie Touch

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS notes a new type of Soviet official operating for Moscow in East Germany, and points to the effective way in which he influences those about him.

The current operative from Russia looks different, acts differently and does a job that could not be accomplished by the trench-coated, poker-faced, heavy-walking emissary of Stalin's era.

His prototype is a young man, smart in appearance, ready to talk in any of several languages, affable and not obsessed with the urgency of selling a westerner on the merits of communism.

Groups of these young men have been in evidence at the Leipzig fair, discussing drill presses and other equipment, showing off some of the products of their native Russia and helping East Germans to make their displays more attractive.

They appear to have been creating a highly favorable impression—one that occupation troops could never hope to make. Their influence is soothing. The Associated Press says the average East German worker recognizes that he lives in a police state. But, with the advent of the new Russian approach, he feels that as long as he goes about his job and keeps his mouth shut at the right times, he'll probably escape entirely the tap of the policeman's hand.

The Dale Carnegie touch seems to be coming out of the Kremlin. It is something of the western anti-communists to keep in mind.

Now the Real World Series

As Our Readers See It

LET US FORGET

I understand there is some talk of changing the names of two streets in the city—which had been named after two brave Victoria boys who willingly gave their lives that we might live in freedom ever more. Instead of changing the names of those streets, I would suggest we put up a granite stone outlining what those names stand for.

I plead with the powers that be not to allow them to be changed, but to be kept as they are as landmarks for coming generations of young Canadians, who will follow on long after we have passed away, to show in our time we did not forget those who paid the price. They gave their lives that we might live.

In conclusion I plead again—please let those street names remain where they belong, in memory of two heroes who did their bit. Victoria, one of the most beautiful cities in the world, should be mighty proud to have raised such sons and also proud to possess such streets named after them.

GARBAGE

It seems that the controversial garbage issue has reared its ugly head again, this time with a new garbage disposal plan.

The only change from the previous plan, as far as I can see, is that the garbage fill will begin on property adjacent to the S.J. Willis Junior High School, instead of next to homes in the Tomaz Heights subdivision. Not a great deal of improvement, I would say.

I realize that the garbage disposal problem is a serious one, but I feel that the citizens of Victoria have already shown that they do not approve of any form of garbage disposal in the midst of a residential area. This is especially true for the area in question, bound on its north, west, and south sides by a heavily-populated subdivision, the Trans-Canada Highway, and a public school respectively.

Surely some method of garbage disposal can be found where there is no danger whatsoever of our children coming in contact with the filth and disease always associated with garbage dumps.

NOT AN OLD LAW

A writer in this column states that "it is a well-known law in Britain that very early days, that the wife should accept the church of her husband." If this be so, how is it that the son of the present Archbishop of Canterbury was married in a Catholic Church and signed a statement that "all children born of this marriage will be baptized and educated in the Catholic faith."

Catholics agree heartily with the dignified utterance of the Cardinal Archbishop of Toronto about the futility of religious controversy. Christians should join forces in fighting the common menace of atheistic Communism.

DEFENSE OF NATIONALISM

It is remarkable, the amount of confusion and downright bitterness displayed by segments of society, opposed to "nationalism."

Surely we must realize, that a community, with character, courage, initiative and independence, is ostensibly nationalistic. How could it be otherwise? Civic pride is nationalism on a small scale. And a family unit, wholesomely interested in each other, is the basis of nationalism. How can we be so wrong? Let's think this one out again.

A man is a fool to say nationalism is wrong. Overdo it into fascism and it is wrong. Yes, underdo it and immediately the state heads toward socialism and dependence upon Mother government.

Democracy makes room for first, municipal autonomy; second, provincial autonomy and third, federal cohesion of all groups. Failure of the governing party to achieve a peaceful co-existence is the fault of the governing not the governed. It's time for a change.

SEAGULL IN DISTRESS

Yesterday I saw a seagull alight on the roadway, at Thunderbird Park, and lie flat on the asphalt.

I got about two yards from it, and saw that its mouth had been closed by wire wound round, and hanging from the wire was a piece of metal about three inches long, possibly a sinker used by fishermen. The poor thing was in a dreadful state and had, evidently, been suffering a considerable time. I tried to catch it but although the weight held it's head down, it managed to rise from the ground and flew to the parking ground.

Again I tried to capture it, but it then flew to the fountain, and dropped in the water, where it seemed to be able to drink.

I feel sure it is too weak to go far, and if anyone possessing a landing net would go around the Parliament Buildings lawns and Thunderbird Park, the bird might be caught and the wire removed.

DRAMA CRITICS

Regarding drama critics: Mr. Stan E. Wade notwithstanding, I feel that the drama critics in Victoria try to read a fair criticism of what they see. The purpose of this letter therefore, is not to criticize the critics but to point out that there are critics inside The Victoria Theatre Guild as well as outside who cause bad feeling.

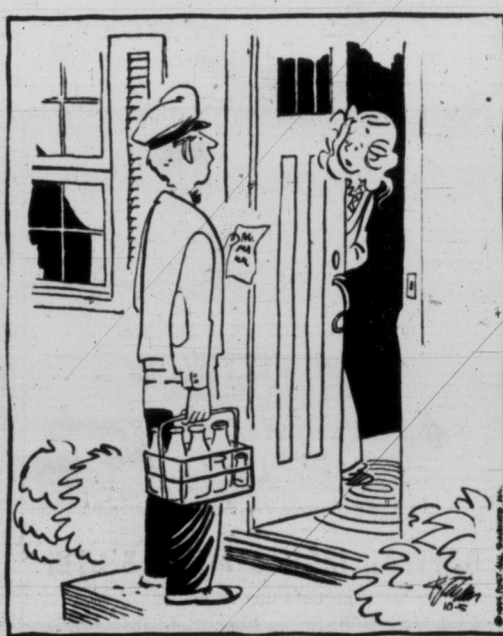

It would ill become me to complain against people who have always said complimentary things of my humble efforts as an actor.

Not long ago I came under Mr. Wade's direction at the Langham Court Theatre. After being allowed to rehearse to within about two weeks of production and memorizing three acts, Mr. Wade suddenly told me that I would not do for the part and I had to "take it." (He subsequently played the part himself.) I did not take recourse to the press. Mr. Wade will have to learn to take it too.

A Look at the Issues

BY WALTER LIPPMANN, From Washington

MUCH against his original feelings, the President has let the election be fought not on the record of the Congressmen who are up this year but on the record of the administration, which in fact is not running at all this year. By a fine bit of political sleight-of-hand the political bosses have covered up the question of whether the country has confidence in the Congress. They have done this by raising the question of whether it has confidence in President Eisenhower. Thus in many a constituency men who have done their best to obstruct the President are asking for votes on the ground that unless they are elected the President will have been repudiated.

One wonders how much the voters are affected by general appeals like that of the Republicans to support Eisenhower or that of the Democrats to repudiate the Republican record.

The question quite evidently does not arise at all for the large mass of citizens who vote the regular ticket on one side or the other. But it does arise in the case of the independents, those who switch between parties and hold the balance of power to decide the outcome.

For them the general appeal to make the election a national referendum on the administration is obviously not enough to enable them to cast an intelligent vote. For them there is another question which is more immediate and more concrete and perhaps more important than that of approving or disapproving the Eisenhower administration.

It is the question of electing better or worse men to the Senate and to the House. For the good citizen trying to cast his vote effectively the question of the comparative fitness of the candidates ought, it seems to me, to override the general question of confidence in the administration. For it is one of the great facts of our public life that the Congress of the United States is today short of men of ability and high purpose and much too long on blatherskites.

BALANCE OF POWER
The question quite evidently does not arise at all for the large mass of citizens who vote the regular ticket on one side or the other. But it does arise in the case of the independents, those who switch between parties and hold the balance of power to decide the outcome.

PRIORITY CHOICE
Wherever the independent voter can find a chance to elect men of brains and character, he should put that choice ahead of whether it helps or hinders one party or the other to control the machinery of the next Congress.

Independent voters who take this line would do well, I would add, to favor Republicans whenever the personal qualifications are more or less equal. For the Republican party is desperately in need of the infusion of enlightened men to overcome the preponderance in the Senate of the old reactionaries.

Enlightened Republicans in the Senate are a minority and most of the time they are fighting a defensive and protective action against their own party. The country needs two moderate parties. But as long as the Republican Old Guard have the power that they now exercise, the Republican party cannot do justice to its ideas or to its promises.

CARRIES ADVANTAGES

Since the indications are so strong that the Democrats will carry the House, and it may be the Senate too, we might ask ourselves what is at stake if this should happen. When a party controls Congress, what power does it have that it does not have when it loses control?

There are essentially two powers at stake. One is the power of the committee chairmen to determine what, whether, when bills should be put to a vote.

The other power is a comparatively new one, certainly in its highly developed contemporary form. It is the so-called power of investigation, which is in fact a power not only to investigate but to put on trial and to punish.

The power of investigation has become the great instrument of political warfare and bears many resemblances to the revolutionary tribunals which appear in time of great crises. The control of these tribunals is probably—on a realistic appraisal—the crux of the contest for the control of Congress.

These tribunals are a morbid development of our institutions, and contrary to their spirit and their genius. For the investigating power of Congress, as it now develops, invades the functions of the executive and of the judicial branches of the government. But the facts are the facts, and the control of this dangerous power is at stake in the Congressional elections.

DEMOCRATIC SUPPORT

The legislative power is also, of course, in some measure at stake, but not in anything like the degree that the President is permitting his speakers to make it appear. The record shows that the Republican control of Congress did not mean Republican support of the Eisenhower legislation.

Except on the tax revision bill, where the party lines were clearly drawn, no important legislation was passed without serious Republican defections which were made up by Democratic support. This is true of the farm policy, the St. Lawrence Seaway, the foreign aid and trade bills, housing, the defeat of the Bricker amendment.

There is no particular reason for thinking that the heavens will fall in if the committee chairmen change hands. If that happened, it could compel, or perhaps one might say it would permit, Gen. Eisenhower to be the only kind of President which by training and temperament he is made to be: a President who stands above and not in the middle of the party struggle.

Corrosion at the Centre

From The New York Times

DESPITE the "new look" put on the horrors of Soviet existence by the Malenkov regime, as recounted by Harrison E. Salisbury, there is growing evidence both of continued opposition among the masses and of spreading revolt among members of the state apparatus charged with imposing the terror by which that apparatus rules.

The continued opposition of the masses is proved by the undiminished stream of refugees and by the millions still being thrown into slave labor camps. The revolt within the state apparatus is manifesting itself in increasing defections from virtually all its branches—the Government, the party, the military forces, and, most particularly of late, from the secret police.

The latest such defection now revealed is that of Jozef Swiatlo, deputy chief of the Polish Ministry of Security, which is responsible for protecting the Communist puppet regime imposed by the Soviets on enslaved Poland under the iron hand of a Soviet Marshal.

Mr. Swiatlo's flight is especially interesting because it has enabled him to provide first-hand information about the fates of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Field and Hermann Field, who disappeared behind the Iron Curtain five years ago.

PERFIDY EXPOSED

According to Mr. Swiatlo, who personally arrested Hermann Field in Warsaw, they were imprisoned in Poland and Hungary for use as pawns in Communist purge trials and as pawns for anti-American propaganda. The United States Government is now able to expose the perfidy of the Polish and Hungarian regimes by the testimony of one of their own highest functionaries.

But quite aside from this particular development affecting American citizens, the defection of Mr. Swiatlo is important ant in itself because he joins the ranks of the many others who wearied of being tools of Communist terror and cast aside the prerogatives of position and power to seek an uncertain but free existence elsewhere.

They are not merely refugees; they are rebels against the regimes they served. They bring us not only valuable information but also new insight into the dark recesses of Communist domination. And their growing defections despite all Communist precautions must throw confusion into the ranks of those they leave behind.

SPECTACULAR REBELS

In all these respects Mr. Swiatlo takes his place at the side of Yuri A. Rastvorov, who bolted the Soviet spy apparatus in Japan; of Vladimir M. Petrov, who did the same in Australia, where his wife was saved only at the last minute from being kidnapped by Soviet agents, and of Capt. Nikolai E. Khoklov, who refused to carry out an assassination assignment in Germany.

These are the more spectacular rebels since Stalin's death. They continue the long list of like rebels under Stalin. That list includes names like Igor Gouzenko, who first revealed the Soviet atomic spy ring in Canada and the United States; Drs. Jan Papanek and Vladimir Houdek, who headed some fourscore other satellite state officials in seeking freedom in the United States, and Mrs. Oksana S. Kasevskina, who leaped to freedom from a Soviet consulate window in New York.

The list also includes Soviet and satellite army, navy and air force officers too numerous to mention. And these deserters were preceded by such men as Victor Kravchenko, A. Barmine and Gen. Walter G. Krivitsky, who died a mysterious death in Washington.

Defections like these illustrate the corrosion now going on at the center of Soviet power. Therein lies hope that the Soviet dictatorship is not immune to the disease that has brought down dictatorships in the past and that the enslaved people of Russia and the satellite states can look forward ultimately to a new dawn of freedom.

MARKED for READING

CONTACT

All religion, all life, all art, all expression come down to this, to the effort of the human soul to break through its barrier of loneliness, of intolerable loneliness, and make some contact with another seeking soul, or with what all souls seek, which is (by any name) God.

—Don Marquis.

GETTING CLOSE?

War to the hilt between communism and capitalism is inevitable. Today, of course, we are not strong enough to attack. Our time will come in 20 or 30 years.

—Dimitry Manuilsky, in 1930.

SELF APPRAISAL

When a man says he can get on without religion it merely means he has a kind of religion he can get on without.

—The Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick.

How's Your Reading Per Pound?

THE legend carved above the fireplace in what used to be the library of Craigdarroch Castle carries the message: "Reading maketh a full man."

Tom Christie tells me it's from one of Bacon's essays and I have no reason to doubt his erudition. The inscription has always impressed me, but it assumes a weirdly distorted significance in the light of a Reuter's news item describing the activities of Leonard Bevis, a scrap-paper dealer of London's Clapham Junction.

Mr. Bevis collects discarded books as part of his harvest of old paper to be ground back into pulp for new uses. Among these volumes are certain old classics. At some recent date the suggestion was made to the old paper dealer that he save the works of some of the familiar writers from the chopper and sell them as reading material. He has adopted the suggestion and he retails the old tales by bulk.

BEVIS RATING

Currently Charles Dickens is worth 16 cents a pound, Somerset Maugham 15 cents and George Bernard Shaw only three cents. Reading, you see, maketh a full man, and you buy it by weight.

There was a time, not so long ago, when the reading public judged its fare on a basis of weight. Ruskin was considered heavy—so heavy that school readers of a generation ago included only one selection by the writer, and that a relative whimsy that didn't quite whim. Light stuff was the reading you weren't supposed to waste your time on. It was usually written carelessly and didn't add anything to your mental resources. Reading it did not maketh you a full man—just a sort of cornflake eater.

Since hearing of Mr. Bevis, I've tried to figure out again for my own satisfaction what gives a writer or a book weight. Authority, I suppose, is a definite ingredient. And I have the improper inclination to believe that a certain obscure style of writing helped to create the illusion. If wading through a volume was heavy going—like wading through mud—then the book probably had weight.

It might have had quite as much merit if it had been written in crystal clear prose with a light touch. It might have outlined its theory, presented its theses and drawn its deductions on important issues quite as effectively. But if the writer had the ability to simplify a difficult idea and offer it in terms that required not too much mental struggle on the reader's part, then it would scarcely be considered weighty.

This calculation seems important today. Writers now are expected to have a simple and clear presentation. Time moves too quickly to be wasted on printed matter that demands thought and effort. The assumption is that it's up to the writer to see that his production is palatable, easily assimilated. If it isn't, then the writer's no good. But don't take it from me. Take it from Rudolf Flesch or the comic strip producers.

Simple, concise, clear and strong writing has always been good writing. That did not, however, rule out certain masters of the longer sentence, the more involved construction. Macaulay used to be considered quite a man with words and so did Ruskin and Carlyle.

TWO-WAY DEAL

Only to enjoy them, or draw benefit from them, the reader had to contribute, too. He had to give the sentences and paragraphs thought. With them it wasn't a case of writing so he who runs may read. It was a matter of participation—and just perhaps it provoked and encouraged the thoughtful reader.

There must be some of them left and some new ones coming up. But Mr. Bevis seems to have expressed a modern appreciation in his merchandising methods. Dickens is 16 cents a pound. And who cares how much heavier a pound of Carlyle is than a pound of Shaw? What's the going rate?

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Portraits of Character

LONDON—A friend of Karsh, stressing that she has sent the letter without the photographer's knowledge, has written taking me to task for saying that on his tour of Europe "he continued his wise policy of training his camera onto older men with lots of character in their faces, rather than risking his reputation on younger people and women."

She says: "... your insinuation that Karsh does not generally photograph younger people, and women in particular, is quite erroneous. This is impression of his being primarily a photographer of men is quite incorrect. Women and younger men form a goodly proportion of Karsh's sittings at all times, and until 1940, 90 per cent of his photographs were of the fair sex."

I can see that I was incorrect in saying that Karsh avoids photographing younger people and women. What I meant, of course, was that judged from results Karsh doesn't photograph younger people and women as well as he does men.

Supposing an unbiased judge were asked to select the best 10 portraits of notables that Karsh has ever taken. How many, if any, of the chosen 10 would be of young people or women? My bet is that we would end up with 10 portraits of men well on in years—photographs of Churchill, the Pope, etc. As a sole representative of younger people and women, the Karsh portrait of Eleanor Roosevelt might squeeze in.

To say that up until 1940, 90 per cent of Karsh's portraits were of men is an unfortunate piece of artillery for my critic to aim at me. Karsh's international fame dates from about 1940 on, when presumably he gave up photographing so many women and turned to more rewarding efforts in men.

It stands to reason that a man of great character, his face reflecting years of broad experience and outstanding achievement, has much more to offer a photographer than a younger person or a woman who has been at great pains to erase from her face what the years have done to it.

Take the example of General McNaughton. During the past war thousands of photographs—informal and formal—were taken of McNaughton and I don't ever remember a bad one of him. He was a photographer's dream and even the most inexperienced fledgling of the army film unit could snap pictures of the general that were photographic gems. With McNaughton you couldn't miss—even using a Brownie with a faulty shutter. His face was so strong and so expressive that no matter how you caught him in your lens you really had something.

I do not infer that the key to Karsh's success is the fact that he has had some wonderful McNaughton-type faces to work with. But it helps.

When Karsh returned from Hollywood with a batch of portraits of feminine movie stars and starlets, I was one of several magazine editors to whom the pictures were offered and who shook their heads and said thanks all the same but this stuff doesn't seem to be up to Karsh standards. A photographer like De Dienes is a master at producing good pictures of youthful damsels with beautiful but otherwise characterless faces. It's not Karsh's cup of tea.

But that is certainly not to his discredit. Long after the De Dienes glamour-shots of starlets are forgotten, people will still remember and revere the Karsh portraits of men.

Esquimalt Asks Changes in BCE Bus Routes

Esquimalt council will ask B.C. Electric to re-route its Munro and Colville buses in order to serve more residents. Specifically, the council will ask that the belt line be extended to travel from Colville to Lampson to Craigflower to Tillamook to Colville.

BC Electric bus schedules in Esquimalt have recently been slowed with approval of the B.C. Public Utilities Commission, due to lessening numbers of passengers.

'Mature' Symphony Opens 14th Season

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Commencement of a new season of symphony concerts has come to be regarded as the official prelude to the winter's musical menu. This week, embarking on the 14th year of continuous activity, Victoria Symphony Orchestra added one or two significant flourishes to the expected glamor of its first 1954 fall appearance.

Most important is the fact that Monday night's concert was the second of a pair that attracted altogether something more than 2,000 persons to the Royal Theatre. Inaugurated for the first time this season, the first of the pair was presented Sunday afternoon.

Bringing Gertrude Huntly Green back to the local concert stage, from which she has been absent over-long, made the occasion still more significant. A favorite, both for her artistry and great personal charm, Mrs. Green is a pianist with an international reputation.

SLIGHTLY SMALLER
It was a slightly smaller orchestra, but more compact and proficient than ever, that performed last night under the baton of Hans Gruber. The program was not of a spectacular variety but satisfying for its contrasts, good balance and intrinsic musical values.

Highlight was the Schumann Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in A Minor, with Mrs. Green as soloist. This exquisite work, with its close weaving of the romantic and intellectual, its perfection of form and rich coloring, was a choice in which both soloist and orchestra appeared to feel thoroughly at home.

Mrs. Green has a poet's touch. Highlight was the Schumann Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in A Minor, with Mrs. Green as soloist. This exquisite work, with its close weaving of the romantic and intellectual, its perfection of form and rich coloring, was a choice in which both soloist and orchestra appeared to feel thoroughly at home.

DELIGHTFUL SOLO
Major work for orchestra alone, was the Haydn Symphony in E flat major, No. 103, named for its opening few bars, the "Drum Roll." Gruber's clean, concise style of conducting brings to such classical performances as this, a clarity of detail and definition in phrasing that conveys the formal charm of its character plainly and effectively.

A solo violin passage played delightfully by concert master Clifford Evans, ornamented the adagio movement. Discipline and a more integrated and uniform musicianship were apparent throughout the symphony.

Gluck's Overture to Iphigenia in Aulis and Marfo's Roumanian Folk Dances for small orchestra, completed the purely orchestral part of the program.

The latter, while perhaps a little on the careful side, were nonetheless most competently played, with well developed rhythmic figures and a certain amount of feeling for their essential character.

Returns to Stage

Maurice Chevalier, venerable music hall star, held an audience for two hours in a one-man performance, Friday night, in a happy full-scale return to the Paris stage. Preparing for a return to North America, the 62-year-old stage and screen idol, used the old tricks that made him famous — his straw hat, broad smile, raffish glint and broad pantomime. The performance marked Chevalier's 50th year show business.

TO FIGHT AMERICAN

Charles Trains for Ring Debut

LONDON (AP) — British boxing found a new white hope today—battling Prince Charles, aged 5.

Among his opponents, the gossips say, will be six-year-old Stephen Rutter, son of an American diplomat.

Charles, the heir to the throne, weighs in at 40 pounds. Stephen goes around 45. According to the London papers they'll fight it out late this month under the promotion of Percy Sage, who runs a boxing academy for the sons of gentlemen.

Buckingham Palace would not confirm but explained the prince is of an age to begin athletic pursuits.

Stephen's manager took time out from diplomatic duties to say: "My boy has talent but things are tricky. Certain arrangements have been made, but too much publicity might snarl the whole thing."

Blown Through Plane Hatch, Man Hangs From Safety Belt

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—James Greenway, who was blown half way out an airliner's emergency hatch and lived to tell about it, prepared to resume his trip to Fort Monmouth, N.J., today—by plane.

"But I won't sit beside a hatch," said the 48-year-old reserve army officer from Seattle, who woke from a snooze Saturday to find himself hanging as far outside a DC-6 as his loosened safety belt, which caught at his knees, would let him, 13,000 feet up.

"I thought this is it," he told a reporter in hospital, where he was taken for observation after the United Air Lines craft made an emergency landing here.

Fellow passengers grabbed a leg and an arm and pulled him back into the ship. He said his wallet, containing a "nominal sum" of money, pen and pencil, personal papers and wrist watch were blown away. His jacket was torn to shreds.

OLDE ENGLAND UNDER FIRE

Inn's Popularity Irks Neighbors

Olde England Inn was target of 22 petitioners from the Lampson Street area Monday night.
 Municipal council was asked to check the legality of the inn. The complainants charged that its operation as a hotel is contrary to zoning by-laws which class it as an apartment.
 They also said that the presence of 50 parked cars beside their homes is a nuisance, that the area is dusty, an "unsightly eyesore" and noisy.
 The petition added that headlights shine in the windows of private homes, motor fumes are unhealthy for children, floodlights bother sleepers, and the summertime parking of buses is undesirable.

 The 22 petitioners live on Bewdley, Lampson and Wychbury.
 Their main contention is that while the Olde England property is zoned for apartment dwelling, the inn advertises itself as a hotel and carries on a restaurant business.
 Many of the complainants appeared at the council meeting which was addressed by E. C. Alexander, 1028 Bewdley.
 "It is bringing down values of our properties," he said. "Early this year council referred this matter to the municipal solicitor. We have had no satisfaction as yet."

He added that there would be no complaint if the inn were operated as an apartment, but "his volume of business is spreading."
 Mr. Alexander referred to proprietor Sam Lane who was not present. Mr. Lane has been under fire from residents in that area for a year or more. Recently council spiked his attempt to build an "Olde English Village" beside the inn. Later a dwelling was approved for the property on the stipulation that it not be used to accommodate overflow hotel guests.
 Reeve A. C. Wurtele expressed doubt regarding the zoning regulations and council moved to turn the petition over to municipal solicitor T. P. O'Grady, to check all points. The reeve promised a ruling at the next council meeting, Oct. 18.

ALBERTA AIR SEARCH PROVES UNSUCCESSFUL

EDMONTON (CP)—RCAF and civilian planes were unsuccessful Monday in efforts to find a small commercial plane with five persons aboard that has gone unreported since Saturday on a 125-mile trip from Whitehorse, Y.T., to Ross River.
 The RCAF at Edmonton reported two of its aircraft were searching Monday but the crews of neither reported anything. It was believed here that four civilian aircraft were searching for the Whitehorse Flying Services plane but meagre information prevented definite reports.
 Three RCAF planes from Vancouver were expected to join the search today.

Sad Young Mother Says Her Triplets Up for Adoption

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Mrs. Gladys Crolla, 18-year-old mother of triplets, refuses to see her three baby sons because she fears her resolve to have them adopted will weaken.
 But her 20-year-old estranged husband told a reporter today: "I'll shift Heaven and earth to stop them being adopted out."
 The 24-day-old triplets—Michael, Robert and Stephen—are in the premature ward of a maternity hospital. Mrs. Crolla is staying with her parents and her husband lives with his family. The couple separated seven months ago after four months of marriage.

G-E's restful new WHITE BULB (right) glows evenly all over

Look at an ordinary lighted bulb and you'll see an annoying "bright spot"... an eye-tiring blotch of light that research men have tried to eliminate for years. But you won't see that "bright spot" in G-E's new White Bulb. G-E lighting scientists have built you a bulb that helps your eyes relax... sends out an even, mellow glow from the entire bulb surface. Lions Bow Again; Playoff Dream Ends

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The Cleveland Indians have left Cleveland, which doesn't seem like a bad idea; while the New York Giants are world champions of all baseball.

But while the tribe steals silently away from their fast-dwindled host of admirers (at odds of 17-10 there can't be many remaining) more pressing matters come to mind.

Tonight Victoria Cougars open their Western Hockey League chores under the stony stares of those who still think the B.C. Lions can do no wrong. (The B.C. Lions are a football club, playing out of Vancouver, and which, until their first game two months ago, were considered capable of emulating the real thing).

But enough of the melancholy. For there isn't that type of spirit in the Cougar camp, despite the outward look that seems little changed from the club's fifth-place finish of last season.

And so, just what has gone on in the meantime?

Coach Billy Reay, by his inherent right, declines to say anything that can be construed as optimism or, if you like, pessimism. The reason being that Reay so far has said nothing. A wise stand.

But not so here.

First, on the credit side, it must appear that the Cougars have plugged some holes that needed plugging (obviously), and are currently engaged in attempting to provide precautionary measures that could prevent others from needing to be filled.

Conversely, it would seem that it may be that the need for such precautionary measures has now become a matter for immediate attention. The league being ready to commence, and the material sought having missed earlier shipments are salient factors that dovetail into this view.

Marcel Should Live Up to Welcome

In goal the club should be stronger than last year, and possibly all other previous seasons, if Marcel Pelletier does what he did so often and so well for Seattle Bombers last season.

On defense there is still the opening that Pete Durham will have no part of filling, but which someone else may have agreed to handle by now. Bill Bucyk is at yet untitled. Walt Clune will do, if he does as well as last year; Mike Keating appears capable of taking over in part where Ross Lowe left off, while Bill Davidson has Reay's notice of approval.

Up front there are several question marks and a couple of "ifs." But among these are not to be included such as Andy Hebertson and Colin Kilburn, who would readily be snatched up by any other club in the league, thank you. Gene Achymichuk, a rookie last year, has no other route to take but straight ahead if he is to pursue the puck with his future in mind; Doug Anderson can't do worse than what he would like to forget about last year, and thus should be improved, while Reay appears ready to play regularly, the result of which could decide much of his NHL record withstanding.

Wayne Shooting for Us Now

Wayne Brown hit the Cougars and every other league club last year with his 49 goals; and now he's on our side. Enough said. Mark Marquess has a broken bone in his hand, but otherwise has earned his spurs in competition; Dave Wall may need guidance, but seems to take advice well; Alex Kuzma can put the puck in the net but, with Eddie Dorohoy gone, will likely have to carry the rubber more; Doug Macaulay is, at the moment, bench strength, waiting to prove that he's more than a spring fitter. This status he could attain if his training diligence is applied to game conditions.

Certainly the club has club spirit, which, it must be suggested was lacking at times last year.

Or as trainer Lefty Hodges is credited with saying: "I can't understand it; these guys don't even beef about their underwear."

Which could be the underlying difference between last year's club and the one that bouts with the Canucks tonight.

TROUBLE AHEAD?

U.S. Netters Win, But Seixas Shaky

MEXICO CITY (UP)—The United States was safely past the latest obstacle in its Davis cup tennis path today, the American zone finals against Mexico, but faced a perplexing problem in the current bad form of Vic Seixas.

The American cup team, consisting of Seixas of Philadelphia and Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, O., scored a 4-1 victory over Mexico Monday by sweeping the final pair of singles matches.

The winners of the inter-zone finals will challenge defending champion Australia for the cup in late December.

Seixas, the U.S. national champion won the deciding match when he defeated Mexican champion Mario Llamas, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2. Trabert, former U.S. champion, then scored an anti-climatic victory over Gustavo P. Lafox, 14-12, 6-1, 6-2.

Seixas made this a difficult round for the heavily-favored American team when he was surprisingly upset by Palafox in the opening singles on Saturday.

Harry Hopman, non-playing captain of the Australian team, already has predicted that the American team may be upset by Sweden in the interzone finals.

Minor Hockey Registration Begins

The Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association is scheduled to commence registration of players for the coming season on Oct. 15.

League secretary W. F. Hall announced today that registrations for five divisions will be held Oct. 15, starting at 3.30 p.m. at Memorial Arena.

The association is expecting some 350 youngsters to register for competition this season. The five divisions are: Junior, under 20 years of age before Aug. 1, 1954; juvenile, under 18 before Aug. 1; midget, under 16 before Aug. 1; bantam, under 14 before Aug. 1; and pee-wee, from 10 to 12 years of age.

Each gala will be comprised of 16 events, which include free-style, breaststroke, backstroke and relays.

Each school will be allowed one individual event and one relay event. In relay races, one team from each school will be permitted.

Each school will be allowed one free team practice swim at Crystal Garden, providing the group is under supervision of one teacher. The teacher in charge will make necessary arrangements with the pool management.

The senior school winning the most points will be awarded the Sir Edward Beatty Trophy, symbolic of high school supremacy. Points are awarded on a 3-2-1 basis, with relay events counting double.

Junior high school championship team will receive the Dickinson & Dunn Trophy.

Private schools will enter the gala according to grade. Competitors in each gala will be allowed to enter into only

Stamps Lose to Eskimos

The playoff pattern began to take shape in the Western Interprovincial Football Union Monday night when Winnipeg joined Saskatchewan in first place and Edmonton vaulted over Calgary into the third and last playoff spot.

The Blue Bombers ran up a 24-6 count over B.C. Lions, who will have to come through with a near-miraculous performance to get into the playoff picture. First and second place now are out of reach.

About 17,000 chilled fans sat through 24-degree weather in Edmonton and saw the Eskimos cool off their provincial rivals 21-6 to wrap up the week-end home-and-home series. Edmonton took Saturday's game in Calgary by a 13-12 thrash.

Saskatchewan and Winnipeg have 16 points each, followed by Edmonton with 12 and Calgary with 10. Lions have two points. B.C. and Edmonton have two games in hand over the other clubs.

A Winnipeg crowd of 15,000 watched the Bombers grind out victory over the B.C. Lions.

GETS TWO MAJORS

Pete Thodos scored a pair of majors against the club which traded him for two players, Imports Billy Bye and Floyd Huggins got the other Bomber touch-downs. Buck Rogers converted three of the five-pointers while Ray Pelfrey added a single on a rouse.

Quarterback Johnny Mazur of Notre Dame fame scored B.C.'s lone major when he recovered a teammate's fumble near the Winnipeg goal. Al Pollard converted.

Joe Zaleski and Geoff Crain took over quarterback duties for Winnipeg after Jack Jacobs took an early shower following a slugging match with Chuck Quilter of Lions late in the first half.

Winnipeg gained 145 yards rushing and 213 passing against 126 and 79, respectively, for B.C. Bombers attempted 19 passes and completed nine while Lions connected on six of 21 attempts.

EARLY LEAD

Eskimos spotted Stampede a 6-0 first-quarter lead before getting into winning stride. The first step into the direction of third-place came in the second quarter when Bill Briggs jumped on the ball after it was fumbled by Calgary's Eddie Macdonald who tried to get Edmonton's third-down punt out of his end zone.

Bernie Faione and Rolfe Miles scored Edmonton's other majors. Bob Dean ran his consecutive convert total to 18 this season and hoisted a field goal from the Calgary 15.

Calgary's Howie Waugh got the game's opening touchdown and Tom Miner, conference scoring leader, booted the convert.

Eskimos completed four of 11 passes for 132 yards while Calgary's seven of 20 attempts made 113 yards. Edmonton outrushed Calgary 204 to 117. Seven Calgary passes were intercepted.

Gorge Tourney Reaches Final

Miss N. O'Connell and Miss Shirley Fry are scheduled to meet Sunday in the final of the Gorge-Vale Golf Club women's handicap championship.

Miss O'Connell advanced last week-end with a 3 and 2 decision over medalist Mrs. R. Wakely, while Miss Fry gained a final berth by defeating Mrs. B. Thirlwell, 5 and 4.

Mrs. S. Paterson ousted Mrs. J. Clark, 6 and 4, and Dorothy Herbertson eliminated Miss A. Cosgrove, 5 and 4, in the first flight semifinal. Mrs. J. Johnson moved past Mrs. J. Bennett, 2 and 1, in the second flight.

HATLESS AND PENSIVE, Frank Leahy is just another football fan here in part of huge crowd. But the former Notre Dame coach felt far more deeply than the rest of the crowd Notre Dame's surprising loss Saturday to the pass-happy Purdue Boilermakers. Notre Dame's 13-game winning streak was broken off when Purdue took a 27-14 victory Saturday. (NEA.)

Stan Hack Retained By Cubs

CHICAGO (UP)—The Chicago Cubs today announced they have renewed for another year the contracts of manager Stan Hack and the three coaches of this year's seventh-place National League club.

Wid Matthews, director of personnel, announced the renewal of Hack's assignment to pilot the club, which he took over last March 6 after the surprise firing of Phil Cavarretta.

Terms of the contract were not announced.

Although Hack was hired in hopes he could lift the club past the seventh-place mark which it made in 1953, the Cubs ended in the same spot in 1954 and failed to reach the games-won mark of the 1953 club.

Joe Aquirre Threat for Point Crown

WINNIPEG (CP)—Veteran end Joe Aquirre of Saskatchewan Roughriders has pulled to within four points of pace-setter Tom Miner of Calgary Stampede in the individual scoring race in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press for games including Monday night's showed Miner, import end from Tulsa University, still in front with 60 points on 12 field goals, 22 converts and two singles—a gain of three points from last Monday.

LEAFS COULD SURPRISE

Habs, Wings NHL Choices

By JIM BASTABLE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The National Hockey League opens another 70-game schedule Thursday and it won't be long before everybody knows who made the smartest off-season deals.

The 1954-55 season, with the earliest opening in league history and running to March 20, officially starts when Toronto Maple Leafs meet the Red Wings defending Stanley Cup champions at Detroit, while Chicago Black Hawks clash with the Canadiens at Montreal.

COACHES CAUTIOUS

Coaches and managers, as usual, have been quiet about their chances. It all boils down, the experts say, to Montreal, Toronto and Detroit running for the top three positions until the post-season playoffs roll around next spring. It is anybody's guess about the fourth-place team but the odds favor Boston Bruins over New York Rangers and the Black Hawks.

Canadiens have a new centre in rookie Jackie Leclair, a 25-year-old product from Quebec City. He may step into the spot left by the retirement of Elmer Lach, one of hockey's all-time greats. Irvin thinks Leclair may be just the boy he needs to centre rightwinger Maurice Richard and Bert Olmstead.

Jacques Plante will be in goal, taking over from the retired George McNeil. It adds up to a formidable team.

This is how managing director Corn Smythe of the Toronto Leafs rates his club: "I figure we might move up one place from last season. That's second spot. We started training 50 per cent better than last year."

RED WINGS READY

Detroit, says coach Jim Skinner, will perhaps be a little stronger than last year, but he sees the whole league as promising tougher competition.

Only Jimmy Peters, the valuable utility man, is missing from the Detroit lineup that beat Canadiens in the Stanley Cup final last spring. Peters has retired.

Fern Flaman will give the Bruins a lot of strength on defence. And coach Lynn Patrick, starting his fifth season at the Bruins helm, believes his mixture of youth and veterans will make Boston a threat for the NHL title and Stanley Cup.

ONE WAY ONLY

Things don't appear too hot for the Hawks and Rangers. Chicago ran into some pressure injuries, notably an elbow fracture for rearguard Les Fogolin. Coach Frankie Edolli says: "We have to im-

Saxton Loses to Law; Tries Gavilan Next

NEW YORK (AP)—No matter whether Johnny Saxton wins or loses his title fight with welterweight champion Kid Gavilan in Philadelphia, Oct. 20, he will have to go to jail the next day for traffic violations.

Chief magistrate John M. Murtagh made the decision Monday after the 24-year-old Brooklyn Negro had pleaded guilty to all charges in traffic court. Saxton had ignored a dozen tickets and a bench warrant had been issued for his arrest.

Murtagh imposed a 15-day jail term and fined Saxton $500 with the alternative of 60 more days in jail. He paid the fines.

John J. Duff, Saxton's lawyer, appealed for, and was granted, a stay of execution of the jail term so Saxton could go through with the fight. If Saxton had been sent directly to jail he would have missed the bout, which had been twice postponed before.

The traffic tickets, dating back to last December, involved one for speeding in his blue convertible Cadillac, three for overtime parking, six for parking in restricted areas, and two for parking near hydrants.

Vancouver Club Weaker But Calgary Strong

Victoria Cougars will play an as yet unknown role in the two-part drama that is the official opening of the Western Hockey League tonight.

And perhaps in the relatively small space of 48 hours, it will be known what particular category the Cougars are likely to be classed in for what is to follow.

For the Cougars meet the pennant-winning Vancouver Canucks at Vancouver tonight and then return home to test the league champion Calgary Stampede Wednesday night.

Meanwhile, the highly rated Edmonton Flyers host the Saskatoon Quakers in the league's prairie inaugural.

Canucks and Stamps, the one-two clubs of last year, should provide the Cougars with a good opening test, although the Canucks don't appear to be as strong as last year.

Gone from Art Chapman's club are all-star goalie Lorne Worsley, all-star defenseman Allen Stanley and forwards Larry Popein and Andy Bathgate.

Worsley has moved into the National Hockey League with the New York Rangers, while Johnny Bower has come down from the Rangers to fill Worsley's position. (At least Bower was due to report. Confirmation has not been received here.)

HOLDOVERS

Holdovers include defenseman Mid Houghton, Jack Lancel and Harry Dick, and forwards Chuck McCullough, Doug Adam, Fred Brown, Carl Kaiser, Billy Dea, Gordie Kerr and Ed Kasian.

Among the newcomers who could see action are Ray Cyr, Bill McCreary, Skip McKay, Bill Chalmers, Herb Jeffrey (from Seattle), Dale Sweeney and Ron Hemmerling.

Canucks also expect additional aid through the Rangers, but so far this assistance has not materialized.

Doug Stevenson, former Tacoma Rocket netminder, is in reserve.

STILL POWERFUL

In the Stamps the Cougars will be meeting a club that is virtually unchanged from last year. Among the missing here will be Steve Black who has temporarily retired; Jim McFadden, who has been given permission to report late because of farming duties and Bill Shultz who attended training with Chicago Black Hawks.

Sandy and Fred Hucul are new to the club which defeated the Cougars in last year's playoff, as are Doc Couture, former member of the Black Hawks, and Wayne Stephenson, a rookie defenseman. Fred Hucul was with the club for a time in 1953 before going to the Black Hawks where he finished out the year.

Remainder of the Stamps include goalie Bill Brennan, defenseman Max Quackenbush, Art McWhorter, Pat Coburn and Gus Kyle; forwards George Pargeter, Ray Barry, Walt Trentini, Steve Witluk, Frank Ashworth, Archie Scott and Sid Flinney.

NOTHING FINAL

On the local front finalization of a player deal has yet to be announced. The clubs concerned have agreed, but the players in question have not settled on terms. Too, nothing further has been heard from Pete Durham or Moe Young, both of whom have been offered Cougar contracts.

Victoria's lineup for tonight's game is thus unchanged from the club that lost to New York Rangers last week.

BETTERIDGE TAKES SENIORS' TITLE

Former champion Bill Betteridge Monday captured the Gorge-Vale Golf Club seniors' championship by defeating A. Drysdale, 87-89, in a playoff.

Betteridge, who took the title in 1950, tied with Drysdale Saturday at conclusion of the tournament for the low-gross round. Both golfers shot 86.

A. E. Smith won low net honors Saturday with a net 67. S. Thomas and C. Gibson were runners-up with 69s.

NEW YORK (AP)—No matter whether Johnny Saxton wins or loses his title fight with welterweight champion Kid Gavilan in Philadelphia, Oct. 20, he will have to go to jail the next day for traffic violations.

Chief magistrate John M. Murtagh made the decision Monday after the 24-year-old Brooklyn Negro had pleaded guilty to all charges in traffic court. Saxton had ignored a dozen tickets and a bench warrant had been issued for his arrest.

Murtagh imposed a 15-day jail term and fined Saxton $500 with the alternative of 60 more days in jail. He paid the fines.

John J. Duff, Saxton's lawyer, appealed for, and was granted, a stay of execution of the jail term so Saxton could go through with the fight. If Saxton had been sent directly to jail he would have missed the bout, which had been twice postponed before.

The traffic tickets, dating back to last December, involved one for speeding in his blue convertible Cadillac, three for overtime parking, six for parking in restricted areas, and two for parking near hydrants.

OUTDOOR FRONT

With DENNY BOYD

The deer season is about three weeks old and the results, from a hunter's point of view, have been anything but good. Hunters are coming back from the woods, reporting lots of signs of deer, plenty of does, but few or no bucks.

Areas like Hillcrest, Campbell River and the country west of Courtenay, usually reliable for the deer hunter, have not been producing.

The first week of the season was cursed with such foul weather that hunters would not have been able to see deer had they been there.

Sooke has been producing, as has the San Juan country, but some of the favorite haunts have been a disappointment, causing many hunters to say that these places have been "hunted out."

However, Inspector G. G. Stevenson of the Game Office, has some encouraging news for the hunters.

The Inspector says, "The situation with deer at present is rather exasperating for the hunter but it is nothing out of the ordinary. October is a notoriously bad month for deer hunting and the recent weather has made it even worse."

"But we know from our pre-season deer checks that the deer are there. They are up in the ridges and it will take a change in the weather to bring the big bucks down to the low country."

The Inspector has some interesting observations, backed up by years of experience, on the talk of areas being "hunted out."

Taking Sayward as an example, Inspector Stevenson explains that it is fading as a worthwhile hunting area, not because it has been heavily hunted but because it has been heavily logged.

He explains that when an area is logged off and replanted, the second growth of conifers chokes off the choice browse so necessary to the deer's diet. As a consequence, the deer population moves on.

And to prove that the hunter cannot ravage the deer crop to any great extent, Inspector Stevenson cites the menace of the red deer in New Zealand.

Thirty years ago, red deer were introduced to New Zealand. With moderate weather the year round, ideal feeding conditions and no harsh winters, the deer thrived to such an extent that they are as much a menace as the Australian rabbit. There is no closed season on deer, no limits and bounties are paid on them. Still they thrive.

Tests Prove Importance of Diet

And just how important the natural feed is to deer has been proven conclusively in recent tests at the University of British Columbia. Test deer were fed the natural vegetation they would find in various areas of B.C. In many cases, there was a difference of 50-60 pounds in weight in the same age group between deer which had been fed different natural diets.

To sum up, Inspector Stevenson says, "The really experienced hunters are not having too much trouble filling their bag limits. I think that if hunters would acquaint themselves with the work of our biologists, it might help them with their hunting. Certainly it would make them conversant with the natural habits of the deer and they would understand why they are unable to find targets."

Still on theories, Stan Williams had to bow to Charlie (Green Fly) Guiguet recently on a controversial point.

Guiguet has long been the champion of the green and white pattern as the most effective bucktail for taking coho. Williams, and this reporter, were unconvinced that the color made any appreciable difference.

However, on the recent outing Williams and Guiguet ran into a concentration of coho. They had three rods out and Williams said, "Gook, here is where I prove you are wrong about flies."

Stan let Charlie keep two rods out with green and white flies. On the third line he tied, in order, red and white, blue and white and Coranation (red, white and blue) flies. While Guiguet's green and white flies continued to get strikes, Williams' flies of other colors went unnoticed and there were enough fish in the area so that he had no excuse.

Finally, swallowing his pride, Stan bent a green and white fly to his line and started getting strikes immediately.

We join Stan in eating crow, Mr. Guiguet.

Stock Re-Elected Saanich Cage Prexy

Ernie Stock will again head the Saanich and Suburban Basketball League this season.

Stock was re-elected president of the league recently at an annual general meeting held at Cordova Bay Community Hall.

Others named to office were Stan Bickford, vice-president; Applin, second vice-president; and Mrs. Flora Mitchell, secretary-treasurer. Claude Sluggett was chosen as council member and Miss Carole Andrew was selected as registrar.

Hawks Get Martin

CHICAGO (UP)—The Chicago Black Hawks Monday traded right wing Murray Costello to the Boston Bruins for 21-year-old defenseman Francis Martin.

Martin, a 180-pounder, scored 20 points with Boston last season, while he made two points in 14 games with the Bruins during the 1952-53 season.

Costello, one of the younger Hawks, was farmed out to Hershey last year and scored 12 goals and 23 assists.

AL Really Humble Now

NEW YORK (AP)—The American League thought it had trouble when it met here a week ago to try to revive Philadelphia Athletics but no one knows how long it will take the younger circuit to recover from the debacle of the World Series.

GREENBERG, LOPEZ SEEM TO DIFFER

CLEVELAND (AP)—General manager Hank Greenberg of Cleveland Indians discussed the club's shocking world series loss with his manager Monday and served notice to the public that "we don't intend to stand pat."

"We have some trades in mind," said Greenberg. "I don't know if we can make them, but we'll try."

Greenberg declined to say what moves he had in mind, but manager Al Lopez later told reporters, no immediate changes were planned.

He indicated he has no present plans for breaking up his big three pitching staff of Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia. But he would not say what other players definitely won't be placed on the trading block.

The soft-spoken manager said "the Giants have a real good ball club and played championship ball. They were real hot and we were real cold. But we have a lot better ball club than we showed."

B.C. Softball Body Suspended

WINNIPEG (CP)—The British Columbia Amateur Softball Association has been suspended by the Western Canada Amateur Softball Association until four of the B.C. senior officers resign. The B.C. organization will not be reinstated until a letter of apology is written to the WCASA.

Ken Yost, who was returned as president of the western organization in a week-end meeting at Regina, said Monday night that the WCASA will not "accept the present British Columbia Amateur Softball Association until present president Don Fraser, vice-president Eric Matteson, secretary Bert Smith and treasurer R. P. Simmons resign."

Reason given for the suspension was "wording of certain letters written by the B.C. Association to the western association."

Arnie Dugan To Coach Nanaimo Club

There was good news for Vancouver Island Hockey League fans this week and bad news for league goal-tenders.

Frank Crane, manager of Nanaimo Clippers, announced this week that Arnie Dugan, league-leading scorer and Most Valuable Player award winner last year, would be back with the Clippers this year.

Dugan was the top scorer in the league last season while playing under coach Ed Shamlock as Clippers walked away with the league and playoff titles.

With Shamlock residing in the United States, Crane has appointed Dugan playing coach of the club for the 1954-55 season.

A former American Association player, Dugan recently played in the Mann Cup lacrosse finals as a replacement player with the Victoria Shamrocks.

While he was with Shamrocks in Peterborough, he received attractive offers to play hockey with Belleville, Ont., and Clinton, N.Y.

However, this week he officially declined both offers because he did not want to move his wife and three youngsters from Nanaimo.

Clippers hope to begin workouts at Nanaimo Civic Arena next week when the new iceing plant is put into operation. They are scheduled to play their first game October 18 in Victoria.

Sunderland Spending Spree Beginning to Pay Dividends

LONDON (CP)—A £116,000 spending spree appears to be paying off a year behind schedule for Sunderland Football Club.

Sunderland, the only English First Division team never to taste relegation, last year ran its postwar player purchasing bill past £300,000 to keep the record. It crawled home 18th out of 22 teams amid scathing comments about expecting high-cost stars to jell successfully.

Yet the process of team rebuilding by cheque book is being vindicated so far this season, with the northern England squad playing well, and tipped as leading contender for both league and football association cup honors.

Between June and the opening game in August last year, Sunderland front-office men forked out £30,000 for Arsenal centre-half Ray Daniel, £29,000 for Burnley's outside left Billy Elliot and £6,000 for goalie Jimmy Cowan. Sunderland was running second from the bottom of the league when the following players were added: Ken Chisholm from Cardiff City for £15,000, centre-forward Ted Purdon, a South African from Birmingham, for £17,000; goal-keeper Willie Frozer at £6,000 and fullback Joe McDonald at £10,000.

Star of the new Sunderland movement, and who has been scoring a lot of goals, is a little inside left called Len Shackleton, a ball artist who was dropped from England's international team, presumably because he was considered too fond of the fancy stuff.

Kinsmen Hold Installation At Chemainus

CHEMAINUS — Incoming executives of the Chemainus Kinsmen and Kinsmen Clubs were installed here Saturday at ceremonies held in the Canadian Legion Hall, and attended by some 80 persons, including representatives of the Duncan, Lake Cowichan, Ladysmith and Nanaimo Kinsmen clubs.

Following members of the Kinsmen club were installed by District Deputy Governor Phil LeMare of Lake Cowichan: Joan Allester, registrar; Maxine Greenhorn, secretary-treasurer; Joan Syme, vice-president; Past District Governor Norm Martin of Duncan installed president-elect Jean Murray and presented her with the gavel of office.

Mr. LeMare then installed the following members of the Kinsmen executive: Joe Carmichael, Earl McCall and Jim Read, directors; Al Humphreys, bulletin editor; Binna Bonde, registrar; Alex McAuley, treasurer; Pat Allester, secretary; Murray Poskitt, vice-president.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

Guest speaker of the evening was John MacNaughton of Ladysmith who spoke of "Good Public Relations." Mr. MacNaughton stressed the importance of good public relations between a service club and the community.

"Your club is riding the crest of public favor now with your fine children's playground project and wonderful record in polo campaigns," he said. "Examine your successes critically, study them and find out why you have been successful, and then apply the lessons you learn to all future activities. If you do this there is no reason why you can't continue to ride this crest of public favor."

Highlight of the annual reports by retiring presidents of both clubs came when Dot Stalfanson presented retiring Kinsmen president Jim Syme with a cheque for $135. The money was raised by the Kinsmen club during the past year, and will be used to purchase a drinking fountain for the children's playground.

MLA Proposes Convalescent Home Up-Island

NANAIMO — Construction of a proposed new 150-bed hospital here would permit the present hospital to be used as a convalescent home, Dr. Larry Giovando, MLA, told Nanaimo Ratepayers' Association Monday night.

He said the hospital was badly overcrowded and that 15 or 20 people are being kept as convalescents "simply because they have no home to go to."

"If we could have 50 patients in a convalescent wing we could make a go of it," he said. "The government would give $5 per day, and 50 inmates would be sufficient."

The difference between a convalescent home and nursing home, he said, is that the latter is "board and room" for those otherwise having no place to go.

He said he had suggested 2 per cent of the 5 per cent tax be earmarked for hospitals.

Bus Service Protest Made To Ratepayers

School Students Dislike Walking

NANAIMO — Mrs. J. Sandland has asked Nanaimo Ratepayers' Association to support her complaint that students in the Nanaimo district must walk too far to reach school.

"This is Nanaimo, not California, and children's clothes don't dry in lockers," she said here Monday. She claimed her own and other children have had their health endangered because "they have had to sit in wet clothes all day at school."

"I know of children who have threatened their parents that they will not go to school if they have to walk that distance," she said.

Trustees of School District 68 were Mrs. Sandland's original target in her protest against the service given by school buses in some sections. Some parents offered to pay for an additional bus hired from Vancouver Island Coach Lines to give service to their area.

Central Saanich Chamber Plans Protest Against 'Wharf Hogs'

Brentwood-prolonged mooring of boats at public wharves which has long been a bone of contention at Brentwood drew protest action by Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce Monday night.

President Harry Peard, himself a private boat operator, declined to continue in the chair during the discussion and asked Alexander Cuthbert to act in his place.

Boats are supposed to remain berthed alongside public wharves not longer than 24 hours. In Saanich Inlet, it was reported, they remained tied up in some cases long enough to collect barnacles.

Only the federal government has jurisdiction over public wharves, it was pointed out when the question was raised by Donald McDuldroch.

After considerable discussion, a motion by Mr. McDuldroch was passed to the effect that Col. Keith Dixon, agent for the Department of Transport in Victoria, be advised by letter of the situation and action to remedy it be suggested.

Teen Towners Hold Dance at Ganges

GANGES — Cowboys and Indians formed the theme of the membership dance held Friday night in Mahon Hall by the Salt Spring Teen Towners.

Islanders provided the music and the dance was supervised by Const. Gordon Graham, RCMP, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Trelford. Donnie Goodman was doorman and prizes were won by Jury Coles, Charlie Jenkins, Pat Lee and Barbara Burge.

W. F. Grafton introduced a brief from the B.C. Aviation Council suggesting that the provincial government be asked to take an active interest in the proposed establishment of regional air strips designed to open up the more remote areas of the province.

Phillip Lomas took the view that the situation would solve itself with the future development of air commerce.

J. B. Windsor urged support of the proposal, claiming it was up to the provincial government to take the initiative.

"The developments will come naturally," said George Moody. "We should let this matter take its course."

"We, as taxpayers, would eventually have to carry the load," he said.

Victor Wood contended a "more progressive action should be taken." When put to the vote, Mr. Grafton's motion was defeated.

SUPPORT ROAD PLAN

A master road plan involving study of highways in order of necessity, submitted by Mr. Grafton in the form of a letter from the Mission board of trade, won approval. The chamber gave its support to the Community Chest campaign and arranged for canvassers. Clarence Covell presented a motion urging the extension of Sluggett Road.

The chamber voted that a letter be forwarded to Central Saanich council requesting favorable consideration be given to the opening up of Sluggett Road from Wallace Drive to Hagan Road.

The chamber decided to offer four prizes totaling $10 to be competed for by junior and senior school students for design of fire prevention posters. They will be judged by the school principals and prizes will be awarded at the forthcoming community fair. After refreshments, the meeting terminated with the presentation of a TCA travel film by W. McCarthy Supporters Plan March on Washington

BALTIMORE (AP)—The head of a militant anti-Communist organization has announced here that a country-wide "march on Washington" asking United States senators to censure Senator Joseph McCarthy will be staged Nov. 11. Rabbi Benjamin Schultz, in Baltimore to be toastmaster to a dinner honoring Poy M. ROAD TO LAKE LOUISE WONDERLAND ALL WAY

Twentieth of a Series

It was sad to leave Jasper at the end of our stay. But we soon forgot our regrets on the next stage of the road, the drive down the Columbia icefield highway to Lake Louise.

Any child of school age will tell you that the Columbia icefield, besides consisting of 150 square miles of ice, is the source of three rivers with uniquely different careers: the Columbia, which flows into the Pacific; the Athabasca, which finds its outlet in the Arctic; and the Saskatchewan, whose chequered progress takes it, via Winnipeg and the Great Lakes, out into the Atlantic Ocean.

Any child knows all that. But you need your own eyes to appreciate what it is like to drive alongside it, down the icefield highway.

GRANDER SCALE

Like the drive up the St. John River Valley, some thousands of miles back, this was something I had been looking forward to for a long time. Friends in Ottawa had warned us, when we were at the planning stage of our trip, to make sure that we drove from Jasper to Banff, and not northwards from Banff to Jasper. We saw what they meant as soon as we were well set on the journey.

This is truly a noble section of Canada. It's difficult to imagine anything that could make Jasper seem small, but the road from there to Lake Louise, through the Banff National Park, succeeded in doing just that. Everything now seemed on an infinitely bigger and more magnificent scale: the mountains, the rivers, the timber. There are 150 miles of road that take you past a score of mountains over 10,000 feet, past glaciers, one of them with snowmobiles crawling all over it like orange ants, another—the Crow's Foot Glacier—so like a frozen crow's claw that it did not need any signpost to identify it; past trees which, all along the route, were majestically tall and thick.

Here you discover why the mountains are called Rocky. They are grim and hard, bald and craggy. Here the scenery is matchless. It includes two mountain passes, both over 6,000 feet; two major lakes, one of them aquamarine, the other pure emerald; and mile upon mile of soaring timber, mile upon mile of winding road. This is probably the most beautiful scenic drive in all Canada. We took five hours—on purpose—to cover the first hundred miles of it. Stopping and dawdling are both irresistible. You can have no other choice than to spin out this journey as far as it will go.

At the finish we spent the night at Lake Louise, a gem of a place, a small lake topped by the immense bulk of Victoria Glacier which overhangs it. Lake Louise seemed to sum up the whole southward journey from Jasper. X marks the spot where we ran out of superlatives.

The next call was Calgary, nothing our 4,000th mile at formidable Mount Eisenhower on the way. Calgary was a city I had long wanted to re-visit. Last time it had left its mark on me in a very unusual way. DATE: St. Patrick's Day, 1954. SCENE: The Calgary bull sale. CHARACTERS: Monsarrat and a seven-foot tall cowboy. ACTION: They shake hands. Cowboy's enormous paw encircles Monsarrat's dainty fist. Cowboy's thumb nail scratches, very slightly. Monsarrat's d.f. RESULT: Blood poisoning, a hand and arm swollen to the size of twin balloons, and a scar which I carry to this day.

Naturally, I wanted to see Calgary again. Calgary is more than a place. It's an idea, an idea starting less than 80 years ago. Then its name, in Gaelic, meant "Clear Running Water." Now it has a population of 140,000, who all know it means "Western Wonderland."

In Calgary the hats are huge; like the steaks, which the principal hotel lists by weight, from a die-away 7-oz. snack to a double T-bone of 28-oz. Calgary has magnificent farming and ranching. It has oil. (Edmonton—remember Edmonton?—calls itself the oil capital of Canada, a title hotly disputed by Calgary, which maintains that though the muscle may be in Edmonton, the brains are right here on Centre Street.) It has people bursting to welcome you, as properly proud of Calgary as anyone could be. It has a display of dinosaurs. It has an entire village of motels. It has the Calgary stampeade.

During the stampeade Calgary declares open house to thousands of uninhibited visitors, who all have a wonderful time. But you have to play your part. I mentioned to a friendly news photographer that we hoped to attend the stampeade next year. He looked at me thoughtfully and then said: "If I were you I wouldn't wear a tie." When I asked why not, he made a brisk snipping motion, as if with a pair of scissors.

Whether true or false, I shall certainly remember that. Wednesday: "On to Nelson." (World Copyright Reserved)

Plans Ordered For New School

800-Pupil Structure For Burnside Site

A new junior high school is planned for the Burnside-Tillikum area to accommodate approximately 800 students, it was learned today.

The Greater Victoria School Board has been studying need for such a school in the district for about a year, and has instructed a firm of architects, believed to be in Vancouver, to submit plans.

The board is negotiating for 12 acres of land in the Tillikum Road, new Island Highway and Interurban road location as a school site.

The new junior high school would be a two-storey structure for main classrooms, with a one-storey wing to house home economics and industrial arts classes. All told there would be 24 classrooms.

If building of the proposed school is proceeded with, it would bring to five the number of junior high schools in School District No. 61.

Most of the pupils in the area are now attending S. J. Willis Junior High. The board feels it would be preferable if these students attended school in their own district.

Once architect's plans are submitted the board, and approved, then whether or not to proceed with building would await decision of ratepayers at next December's civic elections. Possible cost of the school has not yet been estimated.

Acquittal Asked In Rocky Point Theft Charge

Claiming there was no evidence to show "intent to steal," defense counsel W. H. M. Haldane asked an Assize Court jury today to acquit Philip LeBrun, 27, on trial on a charge of theft of timber from Crown property at Rocky Point.

Mr. Haldane said evidence at the trial indicated the case should have been a civil matter between the department of national defense and Bennett & White Ltd., contractors, who are engaged in construction of an arsenal at Rocky Point for the defense department.

The accused, Mr. Haldane pointed out, was a foreman for the contracting firm who simply had cut and removed timber from Rocky Point with the permission of Leonard White, company vice-president.

NEEDED FILL

The counsel said LeBrun had timber cut early in June to clear an area which could be used as a source of fill required for road construction on the project. The accused, he pointed out, did not know at the time the timber he had cut had been designated as a "restricted" area by defense department officials.

LeBrun had ordered logs cut which he properly thought were included in the firm's contract, he said. He had asked Mr. Bennett if the logs could be sold instead of burned as they usually were, Mr. Haldane added.

"It was only after the trees were cut that the accused realized the timber was located outside the contract," Mr. Haldane said. "LeBrun at the time was prepared to turn over tally sheets and statement of sale to Mr. Bennett but was stopped by RCMP officers."

"I suggest this should have been a civil matter," said the defense counsel. "It is a matter between the crown and the contracting firm to settle."

He added there was no doubt that the trees had been cut beyond the limit of the contract and the timber sold, but he added there was no evidence of intent to steal in the case.

LeBrun's case was expected to go to the jury late today. At press time, Mr. Justice A. M. Manson began his address to the jury.

RED FEATHER MEETING

A meeting of canvassers in the residential division of Community Chest takes place at 3 p.m. at Government House Wednesday. Mrs. Clarence Wallace will be hostess and Mrs. R. A. Dykes will conduct the meeting. Refreshments will be provided.

More Charges Laid In Mexico-Car Case

Auto-Thief Suspect to Stand Trial For Buying Goods With Bad Cheques

A charge of obtaining a radio with a worthless cheque at a city department store was read in city court today against C. L. Cummings, no fixed address.

Remanded to next Tuesday for preliminary hearing, Cummings was told he will also be charged with obtaining a camera from the same store and a sports jacket from another store, both with worthless cheques.

City prosecutor Alan Bigelow pointed out that Cummings is also known as Robert G. Kurtiss and as Robert Albert Biskkey. He was charged in city police court last Saturday with car theft under the name of Robert Kurtiss.

City police arrested the accused Friday as he stepped from a Seattle boat. The charge involves a National Motors U-Drive car rented Aug. 3. It was later recovered in Mexico. Preliminary hearing on that charge takes place Thursday.

Shawnigan Governors Receive Holtz Letter

Shawnigan Lake School's seven-member board of governors will meet later this week to discuss a letter received from Jamaican accountant-general Noel B. Holtz, in which he is believed to demand a complete apology from the board for the "Hewitt affair."

Headmaster G. P. Kaye said today the letter had been received, and action would be taken as soon as the board could be assembled. Mr. Holtz's daughter, Dorothy Holtz Hewitt, married to one of the masters at the school, claims she was forced to leave because of color.

Contents of the letter, while not revealed, are believed to follow the general tenor of the demand for a complete apology which Mr. Holtz last week told the Times he would make.

The board of governors has asked Mr. Holtz to visit the school and endeavor to straighten out the matter.

Oct. 31 Deadline For Oak Bay List

New names for Oak Bay voters' list must be filed with municipal clerk A. D. Findlay not later than Oct. 31, it was announced today.

Eligible are persons over the full age of 21, householder or licensee, and resident in the municipality for at least six months.

Application for the list will make those qualified eligible to vote in 1954-55 elections.

Persons whose names appeared on the list last year and who have paid this year's road tax and license fee will automatically be replaced on the new list.

Brick-Tossers Damage New Home's Chimney

About $75 damage was done to a new home construction at 1300 Haultain overnight. Builder Jack Norton, 1520 Edgeware, told police that 200 bricks had been hurled from the upstairs to the chimney foundation with heavy damage resulting.

All of the flue for the chimney was also smashed, he said.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—It used to be a boast of Albertans that theirs was the last province of Canada which had no rats. What is the position now?—G.B.A.

A.—A week or two ago the Edmonton Journal said in an editorial: "Alberta is to stiffen its defense against invading rats from the east following reports that the rodents have recently made further encroachments into the province." The deputy minister of agriculture said the department's experience proved the pest "can be eliminated from areas where it already is established."

Q.—Will you please tell me the correct population of east and west Germany?—C.K.

German Democratic Republic (east Germany), capital east Berlin; area 41,535 square miles; population 18,541,000 (including east Berlin) 1952 estimate.

REPORTER GETS EARFUL FROM PARK'S SHIP-JUMPING MACAW

Beauty From Brazil 'Fed-Up' With Sylvan Solitude

By TONY DICKASON
Did you ever hear a macaw sing a chorus from the Student Prince of Heidelberg? Or comment succinctly on macawism in the west?

No more did I. But there's a wonderful macaw out at Beacon Hill Park that's just loaded down with cleverness, birdishly speaking. Goaded, flagellated, coaxed, and fed peanuts, it will query brightly: "Polly wanta cracker?" in a horse baritone.

Nobody named Polly was around when we were there, so the invitation was wasted. However, a yellow-frocked white-bonneted wee 'un of 18 months, Susan Williams of 587 Marfield Avenue, was on hand. She said hello to the macaw.

The response was frightfully clever: "Squaak."

This particular macaw, actually, has a very fair vocabulary. Unfortunately it breaks into paens of poetry—very early in the morning before citizens are stumbling around the leafy bowers. If you shout at the bird, it sulks, and won't talk at all. If coaxed with sweet-sibilant words, it will probably tell you it's "fed up . . . fed up . . . fed up . . ."

Can't blame the bird much, for its been incarcerated in a cage since 1937. Park foreman Alex Johnston found it up a tree that year. He believes the bird jumped a foreign ship, as no neighbors reported a missing macaw.

Adding to this theory was the fact that the macaw spoke, but in some garbled outlandish tongue none of the park maintenance men could hastily recall.

It had been attacked by crows, and the usually brilliant red, green and blue raiment of feathers was somewhat depleted. Grabbed and placed gently into the large cage it made a quick recovery and escaped. A local citizen found the bird and took it home. There, with its big, hard and extremely powerful beak, it bit off numerous wooden bureau handles and antique furniture knobs for exercise.

Anxiety to find the rightful owner possessed this gentleman. By dint of much work he eventually contacted Mr. Johnston, who brought the tough beauty back to roost in the park.

The macaw today looks as young and lovely as ever. They start showing age around 100 years, but there is no exact method of determining age up to this point.

This macaw will say "good-bye" when you arrive, and "hello" when you leave. It will also sit upside down on the wire cage net. Also, it evidently thinks crackers are peanuts, yelling for a cracker and beaming birdlike benevolence when fed the latter.

The park's macaw is not satisfied with the English of Bernard Shaw. It also imitates the nearby ducks, and barks like a small terrier quite creditably.

Judging by its coloring and the Encyclopedia Britannica, the pretty 33-inch-long birdie hails from Brazil. Oak trees don't grow in Brazil, but Victoria's macaw prefers to exercise its bill on scrub oak to any other kind of wood, likely because it is harder. When not cutting oak into smaller bits, it lives on an impassioned diet of peanuts, sunflower seeds and apples.

NAME NEEDED; ANY IDEAS?

Beacon Hill Park's macaw has no name. While a macaw by any other name would doubtless be a macaw, there is strong feeling in macaw-loving circles that Victoria's bird should be endowed, even at this late date, with some sort of personalized nomenclature.

Any suggestions?

Smoke 'Washer' Answer To City Soot Problem?

Soot-belching factory chimneys soon may be a thing of the past in industrial Victoria and Vancouver.

A North Vancouver inventor claims to have found the answer—a $4500 device that eliminates soot by sending water bubbling, under pressure, through the smoke.

A somewhat similar system is used by McCarter Shingle Co.'s mill here, with good results, according to owner Bill McCarter.

But other chimneys in the city's industrial areas still are belching sootily, despite continuing efforts by owners and civic officials.

NOT SOLVED

City smoke inspector Thomas Walker admitted today the problem still isn't solved.

"Some of the mills have spent thousands investigating the problem and have made improvements," he said. "The smaller companies, not having as much money to spend, are naturally in a tough spot. They have to shop around until they find a method that is economically feasible."

"But, as ways are found, we'll see that they are used."

Annoyed householders didn't seem to agree with Mr. Thomas that progress has been made. Several insisted the situation is no better now than when it was a civic issue in 1951.

Mrs. G. Wells, 3066 Carroll, said:

"The smoke and soot are terrible. Every day I have to sweep off the steps; they're always covered with soot. It gets into everything, especially washing."

Mrs. G. Wilson, 634 Garbally, said:

"Things aren't much better; in fact they might even be worse. We have an open garage here and the car is always covered with cinders."

G. B. Cartwright, 400 Burnside, told The Times: "When the wind is right we get some soot, but not badly."

Mrs. T. M. Kellington, 3025 Balfour, noticed last week that soot fell several times. "Monday, which in most homes is wash-day, is usually the worst," she said.

Monday is also the day that mills give off more than the normal amount of smoke when starting up after the week-end shutdown.

OTHER SIDE

Mill men presented a different side to the picture.

O. E. Day of Crowe-Gonson said the smoke situation "is getting better all the time. Our own firm shut down for a week in August and used the time to make improvements. We've put in special baffles and equipment and it has made a big difference."

"I don't know what people expect," he said. "If they move into a district adjacent to the industrial area, then they should expect smoke and soot. If they want to be totally free from such problems they shouldn't live in the district."

"We and other mills are doing all we can. To completely eliminate smoke and soot would be a very expensive proposition."

A quick check of local smokestacks today showed that four were belching clouds of heavy black smoke. The others were sending out streams of light-colored smoke and steam.

Soot could be found on several sidewalks and roads north of the industrial section.

Wednesday Meetings

Chamber of Commerce, Empress Hotel, 12.10 p.m. Speaker, Captain Owen Robertson; subject, "HMCS Labrador in the North."

B.C. Old-Age Pensioners No. 5, Knights of Pythias Hall, Cormorant Street, 2.30 p.m.

HMCS Venture, a cadet training establishment at HMC Dockyard, Esquimalt, has 162 officer candidates from all parts of Canada enrolled, and after 10 days in training, they are already shaping up smartly.

The "Venture" plan of training is designed to fill a shortage of junior officers in Canada's expanding navy. It offers a seven-year, short-service appointment to young men from 16 to 19 years old, who meet a rigid set of standards.

The 162 cadets now in training represent only a small proportion of applicants, according to Capt. Robert P. Welland, commanding officer of Venture.

Those accepted have been through a process of selection aimed at choosing the young man possessing the necessary personal attributes to enable him, with training, to develop into a successful officer," Capt. Welland states.

Training activities centre around building 38 at Dockyard, an old, red-brick structure built sometime before the turn of the century. It was first used as barracks by the Royal Navy when ships were in graving dock, many years before Canada had a navy of her own.

From 1926 to 1940 the building—known as Venture's "stone frigate"—was used for stores, and during the remainder of the war the lower deck was canteen, central stores for ships on this coast, while part of the upper deck was the wardroom for dockyard officers.

In 1946 it was converted to dormitories again.

The new junior officers' training establishment is the third in RCN history to carry the name. A yacht attached to the Royal Naval College in Canada, at Halifax, from 1911 to 1917, was the first to bear the name. The second was a schooner, of the same design as the famed Bluegaze, launched in 1937. On her maiden cruise, one of the officers aboard was Rear Admiral J. C. Hibbard, flag officer, Pacific coast, then a lieutenant.

Officers candidates "aboard" Venture will receive intensive training in navy conduct and academic and professional knowledge.

On Sunday, Venture acquired a sea-going ship as well as the shore-bound "stone frigate," when the 90-foot ketch Oriole IV arrived here from Halifax.

Who'd ever suspect a man would fly a kite from a submarine in the middle of the ocean? Nobody—that's who! That's why it's being done—so that no spies will ever suspect that my new ultra secret submarine is being tested out there. "Da, da" the spies will say, "No submarine there! Only some fool flying a kite!" This submarine is so top-secret you may already be in trouble just reading about it. However, I'll tell you that it runs on an entirely new power principle. Watermelon seeds. Know how you can squeeze a watermelon seed and make it go 20, 30 feet? I asked myself why this principle couldn't be used to propel a boat. It can. The only trouble is I have to carry along so many watermelons the boat always sinks. That's why this invention works best on submarines.

It was innocently reported in the morning paper that commanding officer of HMCS Labrador, Captain Owen Robertson, RCN, would address a general membership meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at noon Thursday at the Empress Hotel. He will speak Wednesday on the epic passage of the Labrador across the Arctic.

Winnifred E. McEwan, 43 Linden, told the court she was diverted when a small child fell from the seat beside her while she drove across a corner from Humboldt to Douglas. The result was a collision with another car. Magistrate H. C. Hall fined her $35 or five days with a one month suspension for careless driving.

HMCS Porte Quebec will carry out surface and anti-aircraft firing practice in the area between Race Rocks and Discovery Island, in Juan de Fuca Strait, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

A cat caused an accident which resulted in a $35 fine for Robert M. Webster, 1037 Wychbury, in city police court today. Webster was charged with careless driving after a collision on Moss Street in which $125 damage was done. He told Magistrate H. C. Hall that he had swerved to avoid a cat and struck another vehicle. He will be allowed to drive for business purposes only for two months.

Victoria and District Cornish Association will meet at 1027 Caledonia Avenue at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Who'd ever suspect a man would fly a kite from a submarine in the middle of the ocean? Nobody—that's who! That's why it's being done—so that no spies will ever suspect that my new ultra secret submarine is being tested out there. "Da, da" the spies will say, "No submarine there! Only some fool flying a kite!" This submarine is so top-secret you may already be in trouble just reading about it. However, I'll tell you that it runs on an entirely new power principle. Watermelon seeds. Know how you can squeeze a watermelon seed and make it go 20, 30 feet? I asked myself why this principle couldn't be used to propel a boat. It can. The only trouble is I have to carry along so many watermelons the boat always sinks. That's why this invention works best on submarines.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

This little anecdote might be titled "Enterprise in Action."

Around noon last Friday one of our reporters was sent out to find a certain citizen and ask him a couple of questions.

The reporter arrived at the citizen's home, but there was no answer when he rang the doorbell. However, there was a car parked in the driveway, so the reporter figured his man couldn't be far away.

Glancing at the roofs of neighboring houses, he made for the nearest one which sported a television antenna.

Sure enough, he found his man—watching the World Series.

Sidewalk superintendent on the Causeway, watching a pile-driving rig moving into position where the Showboat used to be, asked a companion what was going on.

Companion said he didn't know for sure, but he DID know what SHOULD be going on.

"This should be the start of the city beautification program made possible by the capital city grant," he said. "What they should be doing is building a platform over the inner harbor."

"This would serve two useful purposes," he explained. "It could be used as a landing field for helicopters, and it would hide all the refuse drifting around in the harbor."

Elsewhere in the paper you'll find a report on the new traffic plan for Colwood corners.

This intersection is now a "courtesy corner" for drivers. All we need next is a few drivers with courtesy.

It must be very discouraging to be a policeman faced with solving traffic problems.

Every time you solve one traffic problem, another one crops up.

For the sake of the harried policemen, why doesn't everyone stay home, curl up with a good road map, and use his imagination?

Especially with Thanksgiving week-end coming up.

And did you hear about the motion picture theatre manager who insists on roast beef for Thanksgiving? Says he's had nothing but turkeys all year.

Parents in the Shelbourne-Haultain area, interested in forming a pre-school co-operative play group, will hold a public organizational meeting in Stevenson Memorial Church, Shelbourne, at 8 tonight.

It was innocently reported in the morning paper that commanding officer of HMCS Labrador, Captain Owen Robertson, RCN, would address a general membership meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at noon Thursday at the Empress Hotel. He will speak Wednesday on the epic passage of the Labrador across the Arctic.

Winnifred E. McEwan, 43 Linden, told the court she was diverted when a small child fell from the seat beside her while she drove across a corner from Humboldt to Douglas. The result was a collision with another car. Magistrate H. C. Hall fined her $35 or five days with a one month suspension for careless driving.

HMCS Porte Quebec will carry out surface and anti-aircraft firing practice in the area between Race Rocks and Discovery Island, in Juan de Fuca Strait, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

A cat caused an accident which resulted in a $35 fine for Robert M. Webster, 1037 Wychbury, in city police court today. Webster was charged with careless driving after a collision on Moss Street in which $125 damage was done. He told Magistrate H. C. Hall that he had swerved to avoid a cat and struck another vehicle. He will be allowed to drive for business purposes only for two months.

Victoria and District Cornish Association will meet at 1027 Caledonia Avenue at 8 p.m. Saturday.

First meeting of the Esquimalt Community Club since the hall was moved to its new location at Nelson and Esquimalt Road, is set for Saturday at 8 p.m. Renovations include a full basement and more space on the main floor. Official opening of the improved premises is expected to take place during November.

Latest Novelty Earrings
Of Tinted Feather Bits

By PENNY SAVER

Almost anything can be made into an earring these days. Now it's clusters of tinted feathers. A few feather bits, a rhinestone or two, and you've got an earring that's delicate and feminine . . . as flirtatious as the sparkle in your eye! Move, and your feathers ruffle just the weeest bit . . . enough to catch HIS attention.

Choose a pair in yellow, pale green or turquoise down. If you prefer a sleeker type, you might like a pair made of a circle of white feathers, then a circle of rusty-brown feathers and centred with a turquoise rhinestone.

Or, how about a circle of white topped with a circle of deep black-blue-green feathers like you see on a mallard?

Whatever your choice, you pay $1.50 for a pair of feather earrings.

Some people dearly love to wear flowers in their lapels, and it's for them that the tiny glass vials backed with pins, are made. Fill the vial with water, insert a flower and pin it to your lapel. The flower will last all day without dropping.

I doubt if any of that water will spill, for the neck of the vial is so tiny that the flower stem would stop it. Most of the water collects at the vial's bulb base.

A much slimmer vial is for the gentleman who likes a boutonniere. It's made so that it can hide behind his lapel. Price for either the ladies' or gents' type is 59 cents.

Latest trick to hang on your loose-leaf case, kids, is a two-toned leather change purse, made in the form of a jockey cap. It unzips on the underside, to hold a fair amount of change, safely.

Now—more than ever—you need this medication that does more than work on chest!

With miserable colds all around, this is no time for untied treatments. Use the home-proved medication that does so much more than just work on the chest—Vicks VapoRub.

When a chest cold strikes, you need relief deep in the cold-irritated large breathing passages. And one reliable way to get this relief is to use Vicks VapoRub . . . because VapoRub acts two ways at once:

1. VapoRub relieves muscular soreness and tightness, stimulates chest surfaces.
2. At the same time, VapoRub's special medicated vapors also bring relief with every breath. You can't see these vapors, but you can feel them . . . feel them as they travel deep into the nose, throat and large bronchial tubes. The congestion starts breaking up. Coughing eases. Soon you enjoy warming relief that lasts for hours.

So when a bad cold strikes, insist on this medication that does more than just work on the chest to bring relief. Rub on relief . . . breathe in relief with Vicks VapoRub!

For most effective relief from croupy coughs, that congested feeling . . . use Vicks VapoRub in steam, as directed in package. You'll get such fast, direct relief!

Fifty Years Married

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Green, 1057 Bank Street, celebrated their 50 years of married life recently. The couple were married in Nelson, Lancashire, Eng., and came to Canada in 1910, to settle in Alberta at Bellevue, where Mr. Green was in the automobile business before moving to Victoria. They have three sons, Albert of Nanaimo and Leslie and George of Bellevue, Alta. All are married and there are eight grandchildren. All Mr. and Mrs. Green's sons were present. The iced and decorated cake, seen in the picture, was cut by the couple.

Reby Edmonds' Son In 'Twelve Men'

The 10-year-old boy, Donald MacDonald, was born in Hollywood after Reby

Cake Decorating Pays Dividends

ST. LAMBERT, Que. (CP)—The petite housewife named Miss Ice-Cake of 1954 at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto has made cake decorating a lucrative hobby.

In an interview at her home in this Montreal suburb, Mrs. Helen MacKenzie said cake decorating is a much neglected art because so few schools teach it.

Mrs. MacKenzie, interested in cake decorating all her life, said that when she was young she would look into the big windows of a bakery near her home in Glasgow, Scotland, and memorize the patterns on the cakes. Then she would buy a plain cake and decorate it herself at home. She said she is not a professional cake-icer but is kept busy filling the orders of relatives and friends.

WHY GROW OLD?

Want to Live To Be 100?
Maybe You Can Make It

I like what one of my readers said when he wrote me, "I am 85 years old and am going to live to be 100 or die in the attempt!" Although I am not 85 I feel the same way. The main thing wrong with life is that it is too short.

It is a well-known fact, that calculated by the length of time animals live after reaching maturity, man does not live out his natural life span. This would be around 150 years. Why? Science has been wondering about this for a long time and has been involved in intense investigation. And the interest lies not only in increasing the length of life, but also in prolonging the vital part of it.

Some day I feel certain that the secrets will be discovered. In the meantime research and surveys have produced some facts and some theories. I think you would be interested in a short review of these.

In the first place you are lucky if you have long-lived ancestors. This gives you a running start toward a vital long life. However, if those behind you did not live long lives, do not be discouraged because there are evidently other factors.

One might almost say that physical disability in a not too serious form at middle age may add years to life if the victim assumes an intelligent attitude toward it. Danger signals pull us up short and cause us to adopt a routine which we might otherwise have neglected. I wrote not long ago about "the madness of superlative health."

It has also been found that people who have a happy temperament, a sense of humor, an optimistic outlook and controlled emotions remain young and vital longer than those who are tense and live in a state of chronic emotional upset. In light of the newer knowledge concerning psychosomatic medicine this factor becomes extremely important. We do not yet know just how important it is.

Along this line the benefits of eager interest versus boredom cannot be overlooked. People have stayed young and alive because they were interested.

Of course the information about the effect of food on the body is increasing day by day. Take advantage of all that has already been established about diet.

Research also indicates that we eat too much, especially from middle age on. We should eat less but concentrate on the essential foods.

Exercise and outdoor life are great youthifiers.

Moderation in everything seems to be the best rule.

Take these simple tenets of good living to your daily routine for a more vital and longer life!

648 YATES STREET

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Once more Gertrude Huntly Green has been acclaimed by Victoria audiences. Once more she has been recalled again and again to the thunderous applause of those who, long ago, took her to their hearts. Once more she has proved that she is a great pianist!

Now that the concerts are over I do not think she will mind if I add another accolade. That of "good trouper."

Very few in the audience on Sunday afternoon or on Monday evening knew that Gertrude Huntly Green was playing with a bad burn on her left wrist.

How did she get it? She was cooking a tasty dish of shepherd's pie.

"I'd never made a shepherd's pie," she told me a few days ago, "and I'd always wanted to try it. Just recently I found a recipe that sounded s-o-o-o good. I simply had to experiment. I got it all together. The meat was cooked perfectly and the potatoes were whipped into great mounds. It looked simply wonderful in the oven. Then I tried to take it out. The dish slipped and it spilled over my wrist."

The burn was more or less healed when I saw it but I can tell you it was a nasty-looking affair. Red, sore... and covering the whole inside of the wrist. In the beginning it must have been hard, even for Gertrude Huntly Green to practice as she must have done...

"It pulled a bit when I was playing," is all Gertrude Huntly Green said about it after the concert, "but it really wasn't so bad!"

OLD FRIENDS THERE

In the audience on Monday evening were many old friends of the guest pianist. Friends she had made when she first joined musical circles in Victoria. Friends who had claimed her when she was giving her first concerts.

Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Hicks who were back stage to congratulate her as soon as the concert was over. Mr. Hicks was a well-known singing teacher in Victoria in earlier years.

Col. and Mrs. J. Q. Gillam were there... Mrs. Gillam, the former Miss Eva Hart, was making her own mark on the concert stage as a vocalist when Gertrude Huntly Green was giving her first piano recitals.

Also in the audience was Senator Nancy Hodges. In those earlier days, Senator Hodges was a working newspaper woman and it was she who covered some of those first concerts given by Gertrude Huntly Green and who "wrote her up" in the Victoria Daily Times the next day.

Last night, at a reception in the Arts Centre following the concert, the famed pianist and the newspaper woman who has risen to be one of Canada's outstanding women in public life, stood side by side and reminisced a bit about the days when they were both starting up the ladder of fame.

BEAUTIFUL GOWNS

As with the opening of every symphony season, there were many beautiful gowns to be seen in the audience.

Mrs. Clarence Wallace wore classic black with diamond jewelry. Miss MacLean was also in black, styled in short length.

Flame red crepe with graceful flowing skirt and off-shoulder bodice, the neckline studded with brilliants was the choice of Gertrude Huntly Green. Senator Hodges was in pearl grey lace with pearl jewelry.

Mrs. J. F. K. English, wife of the president of the symphony society wore an attractive gown of net in soft burnt umber tones.

PLEASE DON'T SING

"Something should be done about it," is the way an indignant member of the IODE put it after Monday night's concert. "You'd think by now that Victoria audiences would know that it is not correct to SING the words of the national anthem when it is played as the Lieutenant-Governor enters the theatre."

Victoria audiences, filled with love for our young Queen, need only to hear the first chords of "God Save the Queen" to break into song. Nevertheless, the indignant member of the IODE is right... and in the IODE it is very thoroughly explained to all the members... it is not correct to sing the anthem when it is played as the Lieutenant-Governor arrives.

EUAN COX

World-Renowned Horticulturist Here Next Month

One of the world's foremost horticulturists, Euan Cox, will be in Victoria this month to address the Victoria branch of the Horticultural Society.

Mr. Cox, who has traveled the world over in search of new plants, was the founder of "The New Flora and Silva," a periodical that catered to the connoisseurs of gardening.

He is also known as the author of numerous books on gardening.

Mr. Cox will address an open meeting of the society at Oak Bay Junior High School at 8 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 14.

Greatest fruit-raising area in the world is Europe.

Congratulations on Promotion Acknowledged by Gen. 'Rocky'

BY ROY THORSEN

Major-Gen. John (Rocky) Rockingham, CB, CBE, DSO and Bar, ED, has a fond spot in his heart for Victoria, which he considers his Canadian "home town," and loves to hear from his old friends of this centre.

"Thanks, fellows, it is nice to hear from old friends of Victoria," was the message received by Ed McClure, president of the B.C. Electric Company veterans' club of Victoria (known as Levees) from their former BCE executive of this area. Born in Australia, Gen. Rockingham's first home town in Canada was Victoria.

Mr. McClure had sent Gen. Rockingham a message of congratulations from the Levees following his promotion from brigadier to the higher rank to command Canada's first peace-time First Division.

He asked Mr. McClure to "please pass on my best re-spectations to the whole membership."

Gen. Rockingham's career as a soldier has been spectacular. He joined the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) of Victoria before the Second World War as a Joe in the ranks.

His ability as a soldier was soon recognized. He climbed from lieutenant up through the Scottish ranks and was finally appointed a brigadier to lead top Canadian troops in action in the bloody path across north-west Europe, winning many decorations on the way.

After the war Brig. Rockingham returned to Victoria to join his old civvy street company, the BCE, but his civilian stay was short.

The European conflict was only a brief time behind him when he was called from Ottawa to lead Canada's 25th Brigade in Korea. The work of his Canucks in that show are shown in the credits presented to me." Soon after his return to Canada, Brig. Rockingham was appointed chief of the Canadian first brigade. Further recognition of his ability as a soldier-commander are shown in his latest appointment.

Newest recruits to the Scottish regiment here include Pte. Robert W. F. Ashton. Pte. H. D. MacGregor also joined lately and has been appointed a lance-corporal.

Scottish report that Lieut. K. W. Thomson (army pay corps) has been promoted to the rank of captain. Other promotions within the Scottish regiment include Pte. A. G. Allnutt, pro-

LAWYER URGES ESQUIMALT TO DROP BUS-PASS FIGHT

Esquimalt council has been advised to drop its attempt to force the B.C. Electric to retain the weekly pass system. Acting on numerous complaints from taxpayers, council queried municipal solicitor T. P. O'Grady. It was believed that terms of the original bus company franchise included the weekly pass. Council doubted that a recent Public Utilities Commission ruling could legally abolish the system.

A letter from the lawyer was read at Monday's meeting. He said that although the Public Utilities Commission may have wrongfully permitted the passes to be withdrawn in view of original franchise agreements between Esquimalt and the BCER, there was no assurance of obtaining court support. He said he thought the courts would feel Esquimalt should have broached the matter at PUC hearings held prior to decision on the bus company request for increased fares and shorter routes.

Reeve Wurtele said he had been at the hearing and the matter had been discussed. He said the BCER had a good case for abolition of the pass system. The extensive book-keeping involved proved an added cost to be met by those paying rural fares. Council received and filed the letter without further comment.

Acting to the rank of sergeant; and Act-Cpl. T. N. W. McLeod Act-Sgt. C. L. Stockell, confirmed in the rank of sergeant

MOSCOW CROWD
BOOS BRITONS

MOSCOW (Reuters)—A strong-running, tricky Moscow Dynamo team used the first half to feel out Britain and handed the British squad a 5-0 defeat tonight in the first Anglo-Russian soccer match since 1945.

Eighty thousand Russians sent thundering cheers echoing through chilly, floodlit Dynamo Stadium here as the smooth-playing Russian League leaders repeated their victory of nine years ago over Arsenal. Dynamo edged Arsenal 4-3 in a thick London fog then.

Dynamo's Ilyin scored the first goal in the last minute of the first half. He repeated with his second goal in the first few minutes of the second half.

The Dynamo attack grew stronger as the game progressed.

The Russian players moved quickly, they attacked strongly, and their shooting was more accurate and powerful.

Arsenal's bustling tactics, particularly when the British charged the goalkeeper, were greeted with outbursts of mild booing and whistling by the rabid Russian fans.

As the Arsenal players left the field, the fans whistled their disappointment of a poor performance.

They burst into a roar of applause as the Dynamo players trotted off triumphantly.

The British team, which in the past was one of the English League's greatest soccer powers but in recent years has slipped, was an underdog in the match with the youthful Red opponents.

Sixteen British members of Parliament, now on a month's tour, saw the game.

Japan Now Colombo Member

OTTAWA (CP)—The 14 Asian and Western powers of the Colombo plan today granted full membership to Japan.

Agreement on the Japanese admission was reached at the morning session of the ministerial meeting.

Japan thus becomes a donor country, providing aid for the South and Southeast Asia area. Since she is short of funds, it appears likely the only aid she might grant at the outset would be technical training in fishing and rice growing methods.

Earlier today, Indonesia withdrew opposition to Japan's entry.

Winnie Roach Would Try $50,000 Swim

CALGARY (CP)—Long distance swimmer Winnie Roach Leuzler says she will "definitely be in" a proposed race across Lake Ontario next summer "if it comes off."

The race was suggested Monday to George Duthie, sports director of the Canadian National Exhibition, by an industrial firm. The firm, which declined to be named, offered to put up a prize of $50,000 to the winner.

Involved in the race with Mrs. Leuzler would be Florence Chadwick of San Diego, Calif., and Marilyn Bell of Toronto. Miss Bell's coach, Gus Ryder, has been quoted as saying the race was out of the question.

Mr. Leuzler's husband, a member of the RCAF, was transferred here from St. Thomas, Ont., a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Leuzler said she would begin preliminary training almost at once.

When she tackled Lake Ontario this summer with Marilyn Bell and Miss Chadwick she ran into difficulty when her pilot boat lost her in the darkness. This time Mrs. Leuzler hopes to have better fortune riding with her. "I intend to try this swim. And I'm going to be ready for it."

New Tax Rental Talks Hinted by St. Laurent

SON TESTIFIES

Slain Mother Stayed Away Week-Ends

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nineteen-year-old Ronald Terry told an Assize Court jury today how his father and mother quarrelled frequently over her friendship with another man and because she stayed away from home on week-ends.

Ronald testified at the trial of his father, Cecil Terry, 44, charged with the June 21 hammer slaying of his wife, Kathleen.

Ronald, who admitted that he and his father didn't get along, frequently said "I won't answer" to questions by Defense Counsel Derek LePage and once demanded "what's that got to do with this case?"

The boy testified that his mother and father quarrelled and that she suffered black eyes. "How often did that happen?" Mr. LePage asked.

"Quite a bit. Almost every Saturday and Sunday."

The boy testified that when he was small he had seen some of the fights. "But I was too small to do anything about it," Ronald testified that a man named Martin frequently visited his mother when she was living apart from his father.

"Did you have any objection to your mother seeing Martin?" asked Mr. LePage. Ronald said he refused to answer but then added it "was none of my business what Mom did."

The youth described a quarrel he had with his father. "I understand you gave your father two black eyes?" asked Mr. LePage.

"No, I didn't. I gave him one."

The trial will probably end about Thursday. (See earlier story, Page 7.)

UN to Settle Ownership Of Kashmir

KARACHI, Pakistan (CP)—Pakistan and India have failed to settle the Kashmir dispute by direct negotiation and Pakistan says the question now must revert to the United Nations.

The failure was disclosed in white papers issued simultaneously here and in New Delhi Monday, which covered an exchange of views between prime ministers Mohammed Ali Jinnah of Pakistan and Pandit Nehru of India.

Kashmir is an 82,000-square-mile area in the northwestern part of the Indian sub-continent. It has been in dispute between Pakistan and India since 1947.

The population of Kashmir is predominantly Moslem, giving Moslem Pakistan its basic claim to the territory, but a Hindu maharajah some years ago ceded the land to Hindu India.

24K Gold-Making Machines Bought by Naive Manitobans

WINNIPEG (BUP)—The old "gold brick" confidence game, spruced up with atomic age devices, has resulted in at least 30 Manitobans being swindled out of more than $30,000, Royal Canadian Mounted Police disclosed today.

"Gold-making machines" and another device that the owner claimed could separate gold from ordinary sand were involved in the "fantastic hoax," an official said. The scheme has been in operation for 18 months and a number of "very nice, respectable" citizens have been taken in by a smooth-talking confidence man, he added.

Fred Hossell, 65, who came to Winnipeg in January, 1953, from Alberta and British Columbia, has been charged with obtaining $900 under false pretences. He is being held in Headingly jail, unable to raise $20,000 bail, police said.

Dien Bien Phu Linked With French 'Leak'

Secrets Reached
Indo-China Front

PARIS (UP)—The French military tribunal investigating the nation's spy scandal sought today to learn whether leaks of defense secrets to Communists contributed to the fall of the Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

The tribunal secretly questioned Rene Plevin, who was defense minister at the time the French suffered a crippling defeat at Dien Bien Phu which unhinged their defenses of northern Indo-China.

The inquiry has established that at least some top secret decisions of the national defense council were leaked to the Communist Viet Minh in Indo-China.

A number of other top French officials who served in the government at that time also were called in for questioning today.

Plevin was questioned at his home by Maj. Pierre Des Resseguier, military magistrate.

Louis Jacquinot, another former minister, and Gen. Edouard Corniglion-Molinier, a deputy minister, also were questioned.

The tribunal scheduled for later a confrontation of Andre Baranes and Roger Labrousse, two of the top figures in the stolen secrets case.

Baranes is a Communist card-carrying French newsmen. Labrousse is the man who, it is claimed, gave Baranes detailed notes on the meetings of the national defense council.

Province Would Welcome Tax Parley

MIGHT ELIMINATE
5% SALES TAX
By TOM GOULD
Times Legislative Reporter

B.C.'s Social Credit government would welcome an early reopening of the existing federal-provincial taxation agreement.

Although the full implication of Prime Minister St. Laurent's statements today concerning the possibility of reopening the tax agreement is not clear to B.C. officials, this much is known:

1. That when such a conference is called, Premier Bennett will take every possible opportunity to demand higher personal and corporate income tax returns to the province.

2. B.C. would frown on province-level income tax measures, but might agree to federal-collected income tax as a replacement for its present sales tax.

PREMIER INTERESTED

Last December, Premier Bennett went to Ottawa armed with a brief demanding federal "co-operation" in the economic development of B.C.

At the time the brief was readied, B.C. acted on the assumption that the present agreement was in force until its normal reopening date, in 1957, and that little would be gained by asking merely for amendments.

So, instead, Premier Bennett asked for federal participation in opening up the province's industrial backyard; financial aid in building trunk highways and bridges; participation in extension of the PGE, and money to help in conservation of B.C.'s forest wealth.

So, instead, Premier Bennett asked for federal participation in opening up the province's industrial backyard; financial aid in building trunk highways and bridges; participation in extension of the PGE, and money to help in conservation of B.C.'s forest wealth.

Premier Bennett is explicit on one point, clearly stated in his budget speech this spring: "This government is satisfied that British Columbia is not getting an equitable return from the incidence of federal income taxation within the province."

At that time, he produced figures showing the federal government collected, through all forms of taxation, $174,700,000 in B.C. during the 1952-53 fiscal year.

Actual returns to the province, he said, were in the neighborhood of $45,000,000.

SASKATCHEWAN CROP 'MOST DISAPPOINTING'

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool in a special crop report issued today says 1954 will be long remembered in the province as one of the most disappointing in history.

The pool said rust, sawflies, driving wind and rain have been responsible for a wheat crop which appears to be 36.5 per cent less than the 1953 yield.

Duplessis Agrees To Modification Of Tax Demands

MONTREAL (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today Premier Duplessis of Quebec has submitted proposals for a change in Quebec's controversial income tax statute which could lead the federal government to suggest modifications in its tax-rental agreements with the other provinces.

After a conference with the Quebec premier, Mr. St. Laurent told reporters it is likely the Duplessis proposals—to be received in Ottawa in detail later—will lead to early convening of a federal provincial conference on tax matters. The prime minister emphasized that both he and Mr. Duplessis have agreed there is to be no "special deal" for Quebec which earlier this year imposed a personal income tax equivalent to 15 per cent of the federal income tax rate. Quebec has sought unsuccessfully to have the provincial tax made fully deductible from federal income tax.

One line of modification of the existing federal-provincial tax agreements, Mr. St. Laurent said, might be that the federal government would collect income taxes imposed by the provinces.

'CORDIAL AND VERY SATISFYING'

However, he said, nothing definite has been determined in that respect.

"We just established something of a general nature," he said.

Mr. St. Laurent said this would not mean double taxation. It would be done to avoid, to the extent that it can be avoided, the inconvenience of double taxation.

"It would not necessarily mean higher rates," he said.

A few moments earlier, Premier Duplessis leaving Montreal's Windsor Hotel after the 2 1/2-hour talk with Mr. St. Laurent said he thought the meeting could lead to a federal-provincial conference on taxation.

Mr. Duplessis described the meeting as "cordial and very satisfying."

Mr. St. Laurent said that, "If subsequent events follow the course that seem to be indicated by our talks," he said, "another federal-provincial conference would be in order earlier than we had planned."

Asked about a reported prediction of Revenue Minister McCann that such a conference would be held within the next three months, Mr. St. Laurent said he would not want to be too specific.

Mr. Duplessis said he is prepared to go to Ottawa if a federal-provincial meeting is called and if it is necessary to go.

The premier said last week following a cabinet meeting in Quebec City that he would never go to Ottawa to discuss Quebec's federal tax dispute with the federal government, but would consent to meet Mr. St. Laurent in a neutral city.

When pressed for details on what occurred at the meeting, the premier said it is only fair that he report to his cabinet first.

Mr. Duplessis did not say when he will report on the meeting to his cabinet, but cabinet meetings usually are held every Wednesday.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, talking to reporters before the meeting with Premier Duplessis, also expressed the opinion a general federal-provincial tax conference might follow.

Quebec 'Modification' 7 Per Cent Deducted?

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—The "modification" in the Quebec income tax act suggested in the talk between Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Maurice Duplessis today may have been a deduction from federal income taxes of seven or seven and one-half per cent.

The present limit is five per cent. Federal sources close to the prime minister said before today's meeting that there was room for negotiation in that field.

However, it is almost certain that Ottawa would not go higher than seven and one-half per cent. To go higher could conceivably make it possible for the wealthier provinces of Ontario and B.C. to get out of the tax agreements and levy their own income tax.

In return Premier Duplessis may be required to admit that Quebec's claim is not valid that it enjoys prior rights in the income and corporation tax fields. Presumably the Quebec premier would be expected to acknowledge that the tax agreement system should not be sabotaged.

Full Dress Parley
May Result From PM-Duplessis Talk

MONTREAL (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today Premier Duplessis of Quebec has submitted proposals for a change in Quebec's controversial income tax statute which could lead the federal government to suggest modifications in its tax-rental agreements with the other provinces.

After a conference with the Quebec premier, Mr. St. Laurent told reporters it is likely the Duplessis proposals—to be received in Ottawa in detail later—will lead to early convening of a federal provincial conference on tax matters. Mr. Duplessis described the meeting as "cordial and very satisfying."

Mr. St. Laurent said that,

from what Mr. Duplessis had told him of his intentions on Quebec's 1954 tax bill, he would "gather these would let us make some modifications of the tax rental agreements."

He added the belief it might be fair to have "some redistribution" of the existing taxing powers.

But he said that "anything for Quebec would have to be made available to any other province that wanted it."

"Quebec," he added, "did not ask for anything that would not be made so available."

Mr. St. Laurent declined to say what modifications Mr. Duplessis would propose.

The next step, Prime Minister St. Laurent said, will be for him to receive from Mr. Duplessis information on what he intends to suggest to the legislature.

Mr. St. Laurent said that,
